

1921 IS REWARDING FIGHTERS

WORLD HOPE LIES IN DISARMAMENT, HARDING STATES

Tells "Pilgrims" of Faith in Brighter Future.

Plymouth, Mass., Aug. 1.—Plymouth Rock, for three centuries a landmark of American freedom, was rededicated by President Harding today as a symbol of "real human brotherhood" for all the world.

Speaking at the tercentenary celebration of the landing of the Pilgrims, the President declared his fervent hope that the principle of tolerance and liberty for which our fathers crossed the Atlantic might soon awake a new era in which peace and understanding would be assured among the nations. He referred in particular to the nation's effort toward disarmament, asserting his faith that the movement would succeed.

With his tribute to the Pilgrims, Mr. Harding linked a eulogy to the achievements of the English speaking race everywhere and declared he was convinced that the mission of the race would encompass even greater things than it had yet accomplished. The leadership of the English speaking peoples in the present world crisis, he said, could not be denied nor doubted by any one.

Many Notables Present.

The President's address, delivered within a few hundred feet of the spot where Plymouth Rock has been incised in iron palings to preserve it for posterity, was part of an anniversary celebration in which Vice President Coolidge and many other high officials of state and nation participated.

Earlier in the day he had headed and reviewed a parade of civic, military, and naval organizations through the historic streets of Plymouth, and tonight he witnessed the tercentenary pageant reproducing the landing of the Pilgrims.

With Mrs. Harding and a party of friends, the President reached Plymouth from Washington shortly before noon on his yacht Mayflower, named for the Pilgrim ship which entered this harbor under such widely different circumstances 300 years ago.

Three battleships and six destroyers formed an escort for the Mayflower at today. It was welcomed by a booming of the presidential salute from a battery ashore, while a British cruiser, the Cambrian, dipped its flag at its anchorage just outside the harbor.

British Marines in Parade.

Ashore, a troop of cavalry formed a presidential guard of honor and many organizations, including a unit of British marines from the Cambrian, marched in the parade which passed in review before Mr. Harding and his party.

The President's hope that Plymouth Rock might become a shrine for all free nations was echoed in brief addresses by William H. de Beaufort, chargé d'affaires of the Dutch legation at Washington, and Capt. Sydney H. Bayley, naval attaché of the British embassy there.

The exercises, indeed, were turned into an "old home week" celebration when, at the word of the chairman that they were to be closed, the crowd called loudly for Vice President Coolidge, Senator Lodge, Maj. Gen. Clarence R. Edwards, and Secretary Weeks.

New Hope for World.

A hope that the disarmament conference called by the United States may bring to the whole world a new era of peace and freedom was expressed by President Harding today in his address.

Characterizing the international situation as "more than promising," the President asserted that the seed of common tolerance and understanding by the fathers was beginning to bear fruit a thousand fold in the relations between nations.

"A new hope looms today," he said. "We are slowly but surely recovering from the wastes and sorrows and utter disarrangements of a cataclysmic war. Peace is bringing its new assurances; and patient realization and instant conscience will preserve that peace."

"Our faith is firmer that war's causes may be minimized and overburdening armament may be largely diminished. And these, too, without surrender of the nationality which has inspired or the good conscience which has defended."

"The international prospect is more than promising and the distress and depression at home are symptomatic of early recovery. Solvent financially, sound economically, unrivaled in politics, unexcelled in industry, resolute in determination and unwavering in faith, these United States will carry on."

Leaving late tonight aboard the Mayflower, the President and his party expect to reach Portland, Me., tomorrow morning and there take automobiles for Lancaster, N. H., where they will spend the remainder of the week resting at Secretary Weeks' place and sightseeing among the White mountains.

Last night a bolt of lightning struck the wireless antenna aboard the yacht, but passed off harmlessly, according to members of the party today. The President was not even aware of it.

BARKEEPER, SHOT IN ARM, BATTLES THIEF AND WINS

Don't give up the cash register, the motto of John Burkin, barkeeper at the saloon at 3723 South Halsted street, was the theme of his victory over a robber last night.

The robber, who was holding a gun in his face, commanded Burkin to move over. Burkin, who was sitting at the bar, then grabbed the cash register and ran to the door.

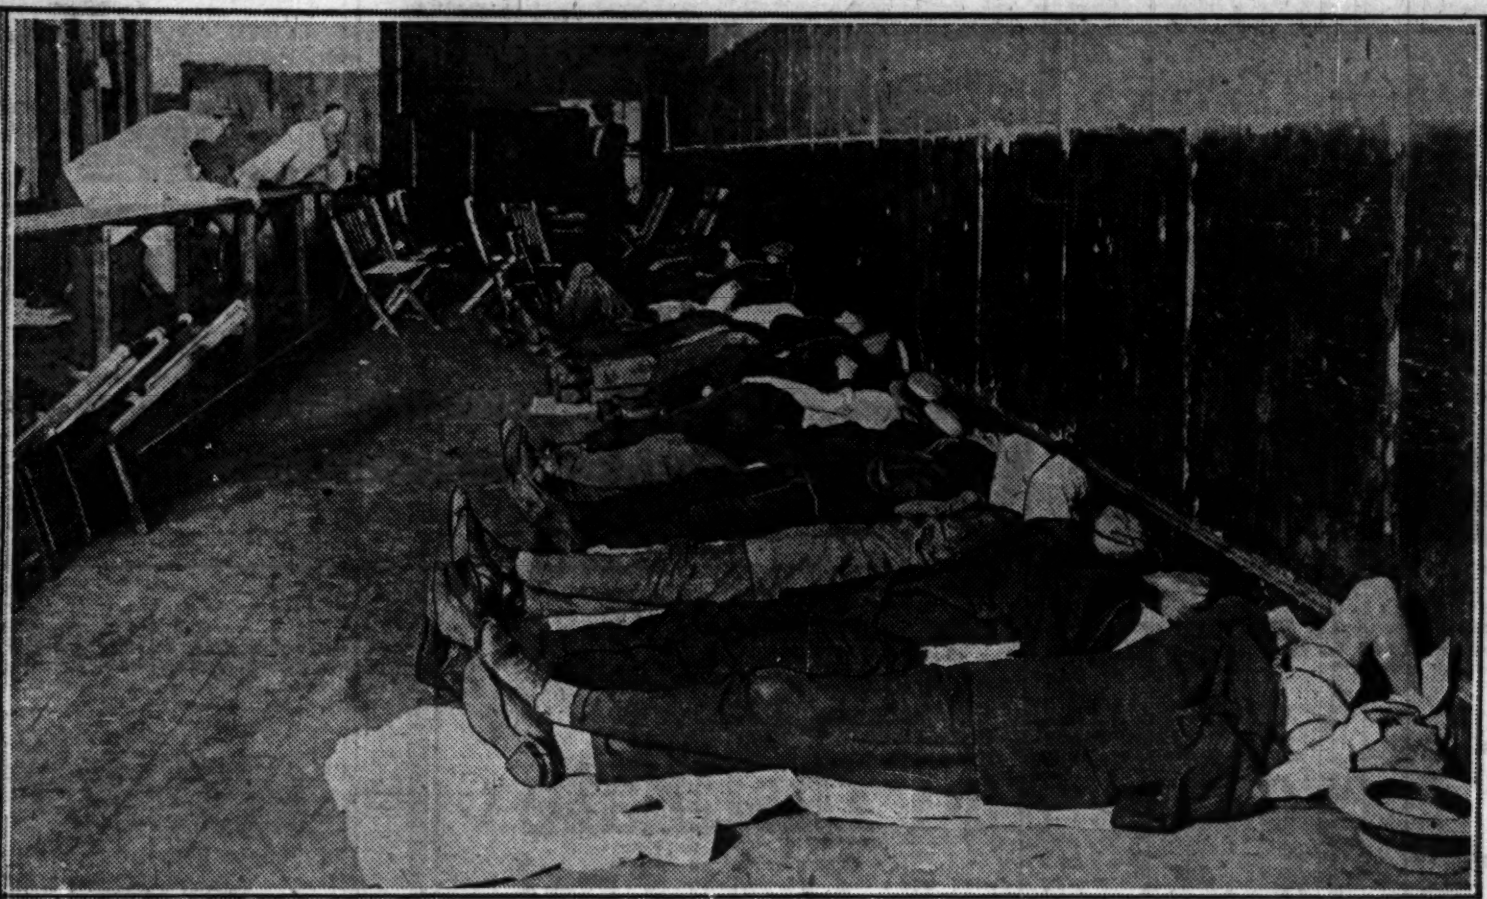

The robber, who was holding a gun in his face, commanded Burkin to move over. Burkin, who was sitting at the bar, then grabbed the cash register and ran to the door.

Policeman J. O'Hara shot twice at the robber, who stumbled over the corner of his automobile. Two other policemen pulled him into the car and drove away.

WELCOME HOME TO THE LEGIONNAIRES

Here is pictured a group of overseas veterans in the entrance to the only home left to them since they quit their pup tents and billets as soldiers of the republic. It is the doorway of an old building at 61 West Lake street. It contains a lunch counter and sleeping rooms. They want work. They are not ducking responsibility. They were responsible soldiers. They want to be responsible workers.

Here is shown the sleeping room of the overseas veterans. How would YOU like to sleep in such surroundings. Depending upon the number to be accommodated each night, they are packed more or less tightly together on the floor. The lack of jobs is what keeps them thus sheltered.

were issued on a west side hotel to sixty-four men and clothing was given to a score or so, while about sixty men have been sleeping on the floor every night.

Wanted: Friend in Need.

Now the building is to be razed and the club has to pull up stakes today or tomorrow. Dr. W. S. Phillips, its moving spirit, is wondering where a friend can be found to offer new quarters.

Since June 4 more than 5,000 ex-service men have asked the Aviation club to find them work. Permanent positions have been found for about 1,500 and temporary places for 600 to 800. The employment director, W. J. Croker, puts in almost his entire time hunting up places—any kind of honorable work is acceptable, from washing windows to expert accounting and running a lathe. The telephone number is Dearborn 104.

No call for help from the farming regions is reported by the agencies; there is no apparent shortage of labor in the fields, as many of the workless headed for the country early in the year, and at any rate most of the ex-soldiers who apply for jobs are so flat financially that for them any expenditure for transportation is out of the question.

Even Clothing a Problem.

Clothing, too, with many is becoming a problem, and since June the aviation club has distributed 300 suits and hundreds of pairs of shoes gathered in the main by women relief workers.

And the longer unemployment continues the more pressing will become the need for concerted, systematic effort to take care of the jobless soldiers.

Tomorrow, Mr. Evans will discuss other phases of the ex-soldier unemployment situation.

JEWELS CHEAPER, ASSERT DEALERS FACING TAX RISE

Even the precious diamond is coming back to normalcy, scores of jewelers who appeared yesterday before the board of review declared.

More than 800 jewelers have been called before the board in regard to their personal property tax schedules, which in many cases have not varied in amount, according to members of the county reviewing board, even in the recent years, when jewelry prices soared to the highest point. Members of the board estimate the jewelers may owe the county between $200,000 and $300,000, due to underestimating the value of their personal property.

SENATE PASSES SWEET BILL; IT GOES TO HOUSE

Treatment of Sick Heroes More Generous.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Washington, D. C., Aug. 1.—[Special.]—Without a dissenting voice the senate today agreed to the conference report on the Sweet bill for the relief of disabled veterans.

The measure was sent to the house, where Representative Sweet, Iowa, its author, stated he would call it up tomorrow. Prompt and favorable action probably will be taken and the bill sent then to President Harding for his signature.

Senator Walsh, Massachusetts, Democrat, senate leader of the fight for soldiers' relief, gave the senate an analysis of the bill showing the changes it will effect in existing law.

He pointed out how it will consolidate all governmental agencies dealing with ex-service men under one head—namely, the director of the veterans bureau, responsible directly to the President.

Some New Features.

His explanation revealed the following: The present law limits the medical care and treatment of incapacitated veterans to those suffering with a service disease or injury of 10 per cent or more. This bill extends medical care and treatment to all service men suffering with disease or injury of service origin or aggravation of less than 10 per cent.

Mental, dental, eye, ear, nose, and throat cases, where the disability is less than 10 per cent, may be cared for under the new law.

There is a limitation, however, to the provisions of this law, namely, that the application of treatment must be made within one year from the passage of the act. Of course, the time of treatment may extend over the period of one year from the date it is granted.

The rate and amount of compensation provided by existing law is in no way affected. Compensation shall not be paid unless the disability is at least 10 per cent.

Greater Insurance Rights.

The rights of ex-service men to war risk insurance are increased in three important respects.

A Section 27 provides that men suffering with disability of service origin may reinstate their lapsed insurance by the payment of all back premiums, providing they are not permanently and totally disabled.

Under the present law and the rules and regulations of the bureau of war risk insurance no insurance policy can be reinstated unless it is proved that the insured is in as good physical condition at the time of reinstatement as at the time his policy lapsed. This has resulted in thousands of men being denied insurance after their insurance had lapsed by reason of their failure to pay premiums when due and the development of tubercular and other diseases.

Provision Is Generous.

Section 27 is therefore one of the most generous features of the whole bill. This amounts to an admission by the government to ex-service men that we are willing to assume the risks, where insurance policies have lapsed, of cases a private insurance company would reject.

The same opportunity to reinstate lapsed insurance policies is extended to beneficiaries where it can be demonstrated that the death of the ex-service man was due to wounds or disease contracted in the service.

Section 28 makes all government insurance policies incontestable after six months of reinstatement date. This provision corrects the attorney general's ruling that incontestable cases heretofore passed in insurance were practically meaningless in so far as no administrative official could declare against the government's right of contesting an insurance policy.

C. Section 27 provides that premiums may be waived and insurance may not be deemed to lapse in the case of persons confined in hospitals or those rated permanently and totally disabled. This will prevent the lapse of any policy when a veteran is in the hospital and short of funds.

Under present law no compensation can be claimed or paid unless death or disability occurred prior to or within one year after discharge or resignation from the service. Section 21 of this bill extends the time for filing claims to within the period of one year after the passage of this amendment.

MR. BATTIS FAILS TO MAKE CITY PAY RAISE FROM MR. BATTIS STICK

George F. Harding.

Roy J. Battis, the Lundin-Thompson knight who attempted to boost his own pay from $4,000 to $6,000 a week ago, was hoist by his own petard yesterday.

Mr. Battis wrote his own ticket as chief clerk in the city controller's office, among whose duties is the certification of the office pay roll. He acted despite the council finance committee's refusal to boost his pay and without the consent of City Controller George F. Harding.

"Battis overstepped himself," Mr. Harding said yesterday. "I have ordered the check at the $6,000 rate withdrawn and I approve of Deputy Controller Gosselin's action in turning the matter over to the finance committee."

But Mr. Battis was unabashed. He announced he had merely "compromised" with Mr. Harding.

"You see, it would have looked bad to give me $6,000 while other chief clerks are getting only $4,000," he said. "So I compromised on a lower figure."

Mr. Harding said he concurred in Mr. Gosselin's recommendation to the committee that Battis be raised from $4,000 to $5,000, in view of the fact that Mark A. Foot, one of the employees under Battis' supervision, gets $4,500.

Battis is a "temporary" or political appointee, holding a civil service job. His political backing is rated at Lundin circles. "Jimmy" Res. Lundin-Thompson committee man from the Thirty-second ward, and Virtus Rohm, 608 S. La Salle, are among the heavyweights Battis boosts.

The finance committee meets this afternoon and the recommendation that Battis be raised to $5,000 will be taken up. If approved, the controller's office, be given a $1,000 raise in its rough sledding.

"Because he failed in his effort to get $6,000, he now wants us to give him a thousand," said Ald. John S. Clark. "He is out of luck as far as I am concerned. I will make the motion to place the request on file."

WASHINGTON NEWS—IN BRIEF—

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 1.

Without a dissenting voice the senate agreed to the conference report on the Sweet bill for the relief of disabled veterans. The measure will be taken up in the house for final action tomorrow.

Administration officials said today that America would help starving Russia unofficially, but that there would be no political character whatever to the aid.

A tax of $10 annually on all automobile and truck owners was proposed by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon to the house ways and means committee. The secretary presented a complete tax program.

Manufacturers appeared in support of the American valuation plan at a hearing of the senate finance committee. Importers are to have their interest in opposition to the scheme as contained in the Fordney tariff bill tomorrow.

Freight cars temporarily out of service because of business depression numbered 555,168 on July 23, according to the car service division of the American Railway association.

Secretary Hughes is expecting word almost daily from the powers invited to participate in the disarmament conference as to the most acceptable date for the convocation.

Plans for an airplane flight next fall to the north pole and across the Arctic zone from Alaska to Norway were announced here today by Edwin Fairfax Naulty, a New York physician.

Persons confined in hospitals or those rated permanently and totally disabled. This will prevent the lapse of any policy when a veteran is in the hospital and short of funds.

Under present law no compensation can be claimed or paid unless death or disability occurred prior to or within one year after discharge or resignation from the service. Section 21 of this bill extends the time for filing claims to within the period of one year after the passage of this amendment.

"SID" HATFIELD SHOT TO DEATH IN GUN BATTLE

Notorious W. Va. "Bad Man" Meets Match.

Welch, W. Va., Aug. 1.—Sid Hatfield, former chief of police of Matewan, and Ed Chambers, a policeman of that place, were killed in a gun fight in the courthouse yard here shortly before noon today. T. C. Lively, a private detective, and four other persons were arrested in connection with the shooting.

Hatfield was arrested last week in connection with the shooting up of the town of Mohawk, W. Va., about a year ago and brought to Welch, where he was placed in jail. Chambers also was to appear in court today in connection with the same case.

Hatfield was later released on bail. How It Happened.

Hatfield and Chambers were sauntering down the street on their way to the courthouse and were about to enter the building when they met Lively.

According to persons near by, Lively and Hatfield exchanged greetings. Then something was said. The men seemed greatly excited and were talking loudly when the shooting began. No one could say who fired the first shot, so quickly was it done.

The next moment Hatfield and Chambers were lying dead on the steps of the courthouse, Hatfield with a bullet in his chest and Chambers with one through his head and one in his breast.

Was Notorious Character.

Hatfield, although only 35, was one of the most notorious men along the West Virginia-Kentucky border. He was made chief of police of Matewan under Mayor C. C. Testerman, who was killed in the fight with private detectives here in 1920, and whose widow Hatfield married less than two weeks later at Huntington, W. Va.

Hatfield was chief of police May 19, 1920, when a party of private detectives were sent there to evict miners from houses of the Stone Mountain Coal corporation. He was charged with leading the people of the town who battled with the detectives as they were about to take a train for Bluefield after the evictions. Ten persons were killed in the fight and Hatfield, Chambers, and twenty-two others were indicted. The trial resulted in their acquittal.

Chambers was 21. He served under Hatfield as a special policeman.

SHANTUNG, YAP, TABOO AT ARMS MEET, JAP SAYS

TOKIO, Aug. 1.—(By the Associated Press.)—Speaking at a meeting of the Japanese immigration society here today, Marquis Okuma, former Japanese foreign minister, insisted on the unacceptability of bringing up settled questions at the forthcoming conference on far eastern question and said the discussion of the questions on Yap and Shantung should not be tolerated.

May Meet in November.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 1.—(Special.)—Secretary of State Hughes is hourly expecting word from the powers which have agreed to participate in the Washington conference on limitation of armaments and far east problems as to the most acceptable date for the conference.

Administration officials said today they still were of the opinion that the conference would begin in November, probably on Armistice day, although there might be considerations which would make some other time more agreeable to all the powers concerned.

ROME ACCEPTS BID.

ROME, Aug. 1.—Premier Bonomi announced in the senate today that Italy had "heartily accepted" the invitation of the United States to the disarmament conference in Washington. Similar announcement had been made by the premier to the chamber of deputies in his speech at the opening of parliament recently.

mouths of named witnesses. Accompanying the testimony is a profusion of photographs illustrating mutilated German men and women, living and dead, alleged to have been so tortured by the insurgent Poles with the aid of the French. The detailed testimony reads:

Evidence of Leo Purkopp: On May 21 the Poles stole all the telephones of the postoffice at Rosenberg and a number of telephones out of private houses in the town. They threw two hand grenades into the telephone office at the postoffice. The postmaster himself was dragged from his flat into the yard with his family, where they were all beaten with sticks. His flat was ransacked.

At Schlesienprobe the insurgents on May 2 took Frau Anna Tiemann, who had been a resident for thirty years, to the town council, where she was grossly insulted by the leaders of the insurgents. Trojak Puchek Galdna, Halomba, and Rosmanowski. She was forced by the insurgents to walk along the streets shouting "Long live Poland!" while being mishandled. Trojak pinned an iron cross on her. She was then forced to scrub the Poles' quarters in the school before being allowed to go home again.

Two Girls Kidnaped. Evidence of Engine Driver Thomas: On May 19 several hundred insurgents invaded the village of Sakrau-

Turawa, led by Stanislaus Nitschke of Kaschitz. The German speaking inhabitants, especially the schoolmasters, Killech, Hruschka, and Warzecha, suffered severely at the hands of the Poles. Everything they possessed was put in a van and taken away by the Poles. Janta, a dealer in cattle, was also persecuted by the Poles, who threw hand grenades at his door and one into the kitchen, after which they took with them everything they fancied. Both the daughter of Janta were kidnaped and brought to Radau.

Evidence of Engine Superintendent Hans Wellerdorfer:

The workman Duda from Römberg was taken from a train of refugees at Niederschütz by the insurgents and was cruelly murdered. Wellerdorfer's brother was arrested on May 3 at Lomau by the insurgents, was imprisoned and flogged until the blood was streaming down. His sister found him in prison without having his wounds treated. He died a deep wound in the head, which was bleeding profusely. In spite of it all Wellerdorfer was taken to Driedsitz in this pitiful condition and a few days later they returned with him to Schrau. The Germans were taken to the cellar of the prison by the Polish guards and fearfully mishandled.

Said to Have Flogged Women.

Evidence given by Friedrich Hoppe: On May 4 ten Polish insurgents, among them Joseph Anderwald of Schimischow, came to the farm belonging to Friedrich Hoppe at Carmerau. They dragged the wife and daughter before the house and flogged them brutally.

A few days afterwards they returned and searched the place for the two women, who had fled meantime. As they could not find them they went to the sister-in-law, Marie Koy, at Camerau, where the women were in hiding. They demanded to know what had become of the two women and threatened the sister-in-law with a pistol. When Frau Koy refused to reply they searched the house, smashed the doors, robbed the linen and clothes, and broke all the china. The cattle they took with them.

Charge of Torture.

Evidence of Herr Grottki, teacher at Zamselau: Alois Kasibinski, sergeant major of the plebsite force, who was stationed at Paruschowitz, district Rybnik, was murdered by the insurgents on May 23, 1921, in the most cruel fashion. Kasibinski had fallen to the ground with four bullet wounds in his body. The Poles then trampled on the wounded man, hit him with the bayonet, and tore the clothes from his body. Two of the insurgents remained standing on the body of the dying man until he expired. The leader of the insurgents was called Kowalski from Czerwinka, who urged his men to commit these bestial murders. Eyewitnesses vouchsafe the correctness of the statements. Evidence given by Martha Blakup: At Januschkowitz the insurgents ransacked the homes of the Germans. The whole school was destroyed, books and maps were torn and scattered in the street. The chief plunderers on this occasion were the five brothers Markowski of Januschkowitz. They showed the insurgents the houses where the Germans lived. These were robbed of their valuables, wearing apparel, and linen.

1921 IS REWARDING FIGHTERS

Over a Thousand Homes in Chicago and Suburbs were Comfortably Heated Last Winter with—

NOKOL

Automatic Oil Heating for Homes

Falling Prices of Kerosene and Distillate Now Makes NOKOL Heat Cheaper Than Coal

MOST home owners would prefer and insist upon NOKOL Heating service even if the cost was greater than the cost of coal.

But NOW, falling prices on kerosene and distillate make NOKOL Heat cheaper than coal heat.

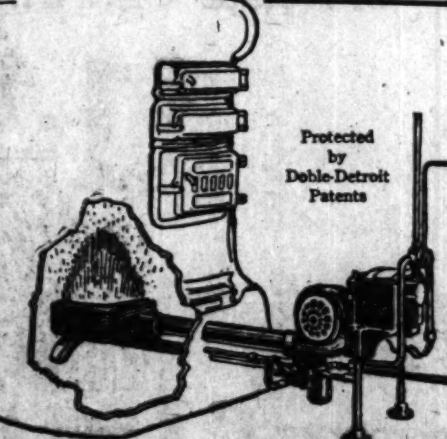

If you have delayed ordering NOKOL equipment because oil costs seemed greater than coal, now is the time to ACT.

The use of NOKOL, with kerosene or distillate as fuel, insures the maximum of heat without odor. It is clean, provides uniform heat and is safer and cheaper than coal.

At present prices, kerosene and distillate as fuel represent a genuine saving to you of from 24% to 47% as compared with coal. Every NOKOL user, new or old, will share in this saving—

You, Too, Can Reduce Heating Costs and Be Freed from Furnace Drudgery—by Installing NOKOL Now

No Coal
No Dust
No Ashes
No Labor
and you get the Heat you pay for

NOKOL will fit your furnace. Tested and approved by the National Board of Underwriters.

The NOKOL Heating Unit, burning kerosene or distillate, is adaptable to any standard hot air furnace, steam or hot water plant—replacing the coal grate bars.

Make this change NOW and your days of drudgery and "shivering" in cold rooms will be ended forever—

On coldest days, on mild days, every day, your entire house will be uniformly heated. Your heating plant will be automatically controlled. Simply "set" the thermostat at the temperature you want—light the pilot light—and NOKOL heating service begins. It will continue throughout the winter, with practically no attention.

A Small Cash Payment Puts NOKOL in Your Home

If you want to enjoy a warm home next winter and be rid of furnace drudgery—order your NOKOL installation this week. Our service department is already behind on installations. Make a small cash payment and let us book your order now and be sure of having this service ready before cold weather. Call, write or phone.

Although rain interfered with some entertainment features, the Pageant of Progress came into its own yesterday. The commercial and industrial exposition at the Municipal pier redoubled the promises its sponsors had made for it as a super-salesman of Chicago products.

Hundreds of threatening skies, unnumbered thousands made pilgrimages to the new $5,000,000 pier. Their patronage under unfavorable conditions was construed as assurance that the venture is a success, so far as gate receipts are concerned. But more important than all these thousands come for pleasure, was the presence of a comparatively small group of men and women on business. These were buyers, representing many of America's greatest jobbing concerns, wholesale houses and retail establishments. And they had come to buy.

Buyers Busy in Morning.
Taking advantage of special arrangements made to guide them through the three miles of exhibits during the morning hours, the buyers were among the first to swing through the galleries. Before the host of mere pleasure seekers arrived, they had done a good day's work. Scores of men left orders, exhibitors reported. Hundreds more of these enterprising visitors are expected today.
Of the day's program at the pier, the event of most general interest, perhaps, was the arrival of a navy coast patrol flying aeromarine boat, which alighted to a landing at the south side of the pier, completing a 3,000 mile circuitous flight from New York.

The craft was brought in by Capt. Harry Bruine. It had flown up the Hudson river, across Lake George and Champlain to Montreal, thence up the St. Lawrence over the Thousand Islands and Niagara Falls to Buffalo. From Buffalo the course led to Detroit and up Lake Huron to Mackinac, then down the east shore of Lake Michigan to Chicago.

Largest Hydro Flies Today.
Later in the day this boat and other flying watercraft made exhibition flights. A heavy sea prevented the Santa Maria, the largest hydroaeroplane in the world, from taking off. It will make flights today, however. Passengers will be taken up.

An error in the programs caused many events of special interest to women to be advertised for yesterday. These are scheduled for this afternoon in the auditorium at the far end of the pier.

"Education" will be the general topic of discussion at this meeting.

THE EVOLUTION OF THE SANTA MARIA

Queerly enough, there is pictured here on one plate, snapped from a lake boat, the three distinctive steps in the advance of navigation. The passenger plane is the newest Santa Maria. The caravel is the world's fair replica of the flagship Santa Maria in which Columbus discovered America. The steamer, which is as large as the caravel, is considered only large enough for light excursion traffic along the lake shore. All were on view for a short time yesterday for visitors to the pageant.

with Mrs. M. H. Lieber as chairman. Mrs. Theron Colton of Wilmette, chairman of the committee on conservation of national resources, Illinois, will be among the speakers. Others will be A. J. Benson, assistant superintendent of schools of Minneapolis, and C. W. Washburn, superintendent of schools of Winnetka. Miss Frieda Winegart of Port Wayne, Ind., will sing and Molesey Boguslausk, Chicago composer, will play several of his own compositions.

Commerce Meeting Tomorrow.
The National Woman's Association of Commerce, in convention here, will hold away at the pier tomorrow. An elaborate program of speaking and musical entertainment has been announced.

Charging that the Pageant of Progress is controlled by William Hale Thompson, not as mayor, but as president of a corporation organized for profit, Eugene L. McGarry, former assistant state's attorney, last night announced he will today file in Circuit court a petition for an injunction restraining the pageant.

WE BEAT PARIS IN PERFECT 365, SCALE MAN SAYS

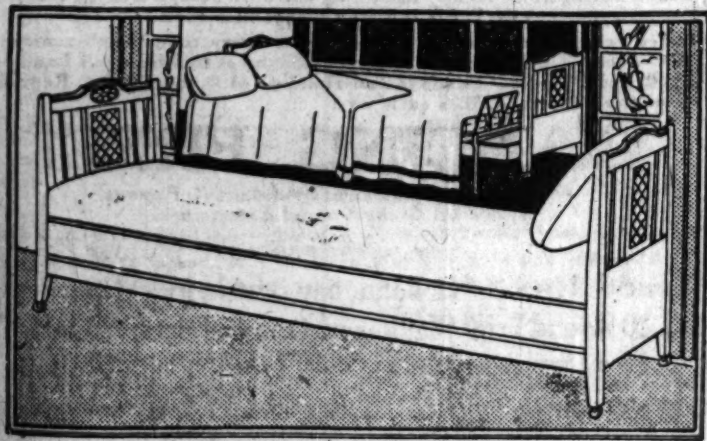

Chicago girls are more graceful in figure than those of Paris. The Parisians may be chic in attire, but when it comes to perfect thirty-sixes—listen to this attendant at the weighing department of the Chicago Board of Trade's Pageant of Progress exhibit.
"We are weighing 5,000 persons a day and issuing official weight certificates," he said. "Seventy-five per cent of the girls and women from 17 to 33 years old are neither too stout nor too slender. Height and weight harmonize sufficiently to tend toward what the modistes term a sylph-like figure. Paris records, in a test a few years ago, showed only 40 per cent of young women to be of ideal proportions."

"What do the weight records of women past 33 show? Let's not discuss that. You know women are careless in their diet after 30."
"A hundred thousand persons will receive certificates during the pageant."
The Board of Trade's eleven booths depict the evolution of Chicago from a wagon load of grain market to the hub of the world grain trade, where 400,000,000 bushels of cash grain are handled annually, and where directly or indirectly employment is furnished to 100,000 persons.

Mayor Pays Pier Rent for Pageant of Progress Show

A check for $50,000 for the rental of the Municipal pier was received by the city treasurer yesterday. This check was signed by Mayor Thompson and Health Commissioner John Dill Robertson. The payment covers a year's rental of the pier. The early receipt of the check is taken to indicate the pageant promises to yield big financial returns.

REVELL & CO.

A Beautiful Day-Bed and a Comfortable Night Bed

The army cot will do for the army or your camp in the woods, but for the modern home or apartment the Revell Double Day-Bed is indispensable. There is hardly a home where an extra bed is not needed occasionally.

More Chicagoans are sleeping in their sun parlors this summer than in their bedrooms. This was made possible by the use of our justly famous double day bed.

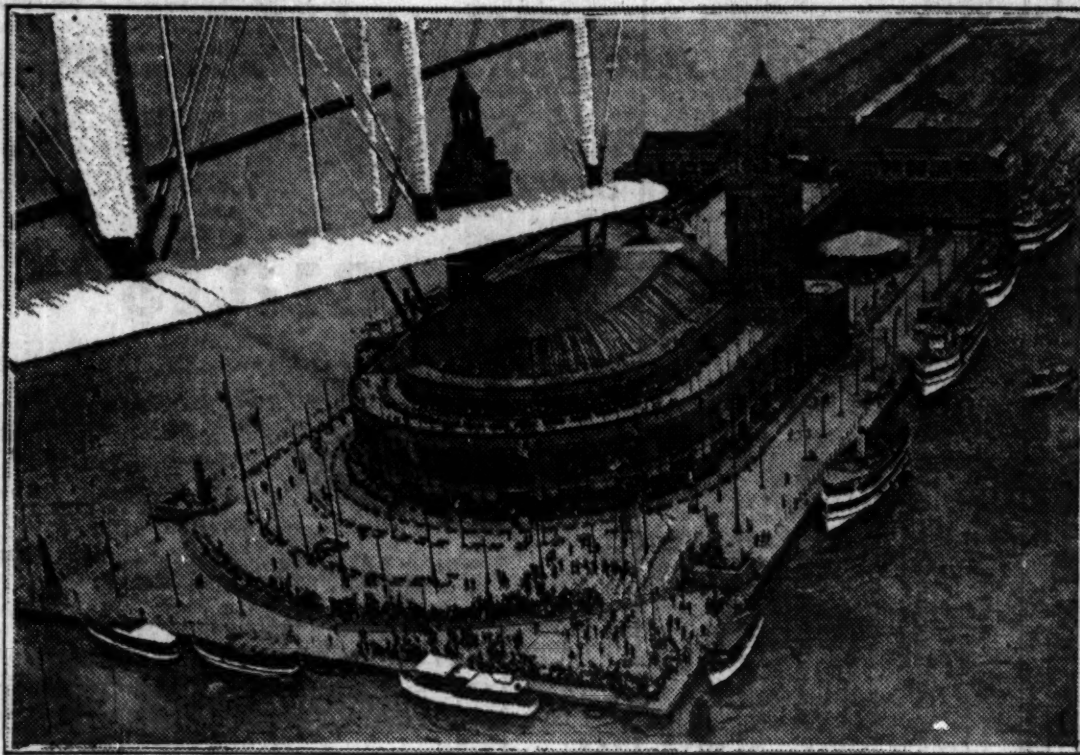

As shown in the illustration this beautiful day bed can be converted into a most comfortable full sized night bed with but a slight movement.

These day beds come in the brown mahogany finish, and have cane panelled ends.

We offer a large selection of fabrics to choose from, tapestries, velours or damasks.

Special price, $65.00

WOMAN DEFENDS KELLOGG, SLAYER OF MAN IN COURT

Says She, Not Policeman, Seized Land.

In defense of Sergt. Harry D. Kellogg, Mrs. Sophie Hanson, 3348 Calumet avenue, his business associate, admitted yesterday that it was she and not Kellogg who had seized property which caused the policeman to be sentenced to fifteen days' imprisonment. Immediately after being sentenced, Kellogg killed Attorney Lemuel D. Ackley last Friday in Judge Charles A. McDonald's courtroom. Kellogg then attempted to kill himself.

"Kellogg's side of the story had not been properly told," Mrs. Hanson said to the state's attorney. "That lawyer, Ackley, had hounded us for years. I was interested in that Arlington Heights property with Kellogg and I also held a deed."
"I am the woman who single handed drove the Ackleys from our property at the point of a gun. It was for this that Kellogg was sentenced. He had nothing to do with it and didn't know that it was I who regained possession of the property."

Kellogg a Boarder.
"Kellogg has been living in my home just as a boarder. I am a part owner with him in the building, and I took care of it, collected the rents, arranged leases, paid all the bills, and was responsible for the character of the tenants."
"It was just three weeks ago today that I ran the Ackleys from our farm. A grandson of Ackley met me at the door and pulled a revolver on me. I had one in my hand under my hat. I outbluffed him."
"A woman, who I understand is Mrs. Ackley, tried to steal my deed. I had shown it to her as proof of my ownership and she ran for the cornfield with it. I fired three shots in the ground and warned her that the next would be fired directly at her. She dropped it."

Property Worth $4,000.

"We got that property by paying the taxes and getting a tax deed after the original owner had abandoned it. It is worth only $4,000. Ackley imposed on the courts, claiming a client had purchased title from the original owner. We could never find the original owner, and don't believe he did."

What Restaurant Will You Patronize Today?

Visitors, from other cities, to the Pageant of Progress, naturally find it difficult to know what restaurants to patronize, unless they follow a simple rule.

By noting the preference of local residents you will have a reasonably safe guide.

It is conservatively estimated that in Chicago there are more than one hundred thousand residents whose first preference is for Henrici's.

Henrici's has been established for more than half a century and is one of the foremost restaurants in all America.

Why not take breakfast, luncheon, dinner or late supper at Henrici's today?

WILDERMEN FIND "EXPERT" FEES AS HIGH AS 10%

Messee and Lynch Each
Paid Big Sums.

By OSCAR E. HEWITT

Louis E. Hart and Lawrence A. Co. attorneys for the council subcommittee investigating expert fees, claim to have uncovered evidence yesterday afternoon proving that the building experts collected as high as 10 percent each from the city in 1919.

At 2 percent each, Frank H. Messee and Austin J. Lynch collected an aggregate of $1,004,586 in 1920. That enormous sum represents 4 percent of the value of the buildings appraised. But that is only one-fifth of the amount charged by them in 1919, according to the lawyers. They produced vouchers to show that the experts in one instance at least charged and collected 30 percent of the value of the buildings appraised.

Carry Faherty's "O. K." These vouchers and warrants, which the lawyers continued to inspect in the city controller's office yesterday, indicate that Messee and Lynch collected in 1919 all the way from one-half of 1 percent to 10 percent each. It is impossible to reckon the rate of compensation, because no value of the buildings appraised was shown in the bill. This voucher totaled $4,500, was dated March 31, 1919, and bore the notation: "Approved, E. H. Dupes, special attorney in special assessment cases, and 'O. K.' M. J. Faherty," who is president of the board of local improvements.

Starting at the bottom, however, the lawyers produced a voucher dated Oct. 15, 1919, in favor of Messee. That indicates that he collected one-half of 1 percent for the appraisal of $687,339 worth of buildings. Another voucher shows that he collected 1 1/2 percent for the appraisal of $771,008 worth of buildings prior to Nov. 17. A bill of Dec. 27 charged fees at the rate of 2 percent and one of July 30 at a rate of more than 3 percent, and still another charge of Oct. 15 was at a rate of 5 percent.

Two 10 per Cent Vouchers. The bill of Austin J. Lynch at 10 percent is dated March 25 and the voucher corresponding was issued March 29 and is numbered 48435. This 10 percent was charged "for preparing, examining, valuing, furnishing drawings, etc., as per detailed itemized reports averaging value of buildings, construction work from Chicago river east to

WAY BACK WHEN—

Chicago's oldest inhabitants attending the Old Settlers' picnic in Brand's park yesterday gave the present generation some idea of Chicago eighty years or so ago. Many had seen the first train come into the city on the Chicago and Galena Union railroad. They told, too, about the Rush and Clark street ferries and the two story skyscrapers of old. The picnic is an annual affair. There were men and women present who had come from California, New York, and Florida to meet their cronies. Those in the picture, left to right, are Isaac Russell, born here in 1839; James F. Marshall, 1844; Mrs. Isaac Russell, 1842; Mrs. Mary L. Ward, 1848; E. R. Lewis, 1841, and Mrs. Bertha Leady, 1846.

west line of Market street, both sides" of Madison street. The property was valued at $13,671 and Lynch's bill was $1,367. Messee submitted a bill on the same property for the same amount.

NEGROES URGE IRISH FREEDOM ON KING GEORGE

New York, Aug. 1.—Freedom for Ireland, emancipation for Egypt and India, and prevention of future wars by the use of his influence were asked of King George in cablegrams sent him tonight by the second annual convention of the United Negro Improvement association. Another cablegram was sent to Eamonn de Valera, "president of the Irish republic," pledging the organization's assistance in securing freedom for Ireland.

DECISIVE STEP IN IRISH PEACE MOVE IMPENDS

Trade Unions Line Up with the Sinn Fein.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.] (Copyright, 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.) LONDON, Aug. 1.—While official statements still are lacking on both sides of the Irish controversy, the atmosphere of Downing street today is charged with belief that an important development in the peace negotiations is impending.

In all quarters optimism is at high pitch, and few informed persons are found who do not express confidence that a settlement is in the making and Ireland will accept the dominion status which is said to be the germ of Great Britain's offer to the Sinn Fein.

For a time today it seemed that the decision of Eamonn de Valera and his colleagues upon Prime Minister Lloyd George's proposals was about to break. This was when word came from Dublin that Mr. de Valera expected to return to London next Thursday.

De Valera Denies Report. On the heels of this announcement, however, came a dispatch from the Irish capital which quoted Mr. de Valera as saying that he had no intention of coming to England this week and that no arrangements for a second visit at Downing street had been made.

Another of today's flurries came with a rumor that Dail Eireann had been summoned to meet in Dublin on Thursday. Again the Irish capital upset the report by declaring that neither the "Irish republic cabinet" nor Dail Eireann contemplated a session this week.

Although the British government continues silent, except to announce that the answer of the Sinn Fein to the premier's peace plan has not been received, there is no doubt in the minds of persons close to cabinet members that communications have passed upon the vital subject between Downing street and the Mansion House in Dublin.

Both Sides Optimistic. England and Ireland are said to have felt each other's pulse, and the fact that both sides express high optimism is taken here as a harbinger that the Irish truce, which is observed strictly on both sides, will be crowned by a lasting Irish peace.

Ulster remains noncommittal. All news from Dublin and London on the progress of negotiations is studied carefully in Belfast, however, and two reports from that city today strengthened the belief that something big is in the air.

One was the statement that Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, would arrive in London next Wednesday, presumably to confer at Downing street.

The other was a dispatch from THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE's London correspondent declaring that official Ulster expected "important developments in the Irish situation soon—but not in Ulster."

The visit of Premier Craig to London, the first since he withdrew with his colleagues from the preliminary conferences at Downing street, may be charged with high potentialities.

May Meet in London.

It is pointed out that while Sir James refused Eamonn de Valera's recent invitations to confer over internal Irish affairs either in Dublin or Belfast, he has not refused to meet the republican leader in London. The prospect that arrangements for such a conference may be made soon after Sir James' arrival in London is advanced as highly probable in some quarters.

No inkling is given regarding the nature of the "Bohring correspondence" expected soon by Ulster, but the added phrase "but not in Ulster" is interpreted as indication that the Belfast government expects south Ireland to accept Mr. Lloyd George's offer as a basis for a final peace conference.

While the terms of the British offer have not been stated officially to the public, it is remembered that a copy of the document was sent by the prime minister to Sir James Craig the same day that the proposals were given to the Sinn Fein chieftain.

LABOR WITH SINN FEIN

By HUGH CURRAN.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.] (Copyright, 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.) DUBLIN, Aug. 1.—The attitude of labor towards the Sinn Fein hitherto has been regarded as a doubtful element. But the situation has cleared up today by Thomas Foran, president of the labor and trade union congress, which opened a three day conference in the Dublin Mansion house.

Speaking on the peace negotiations, Mr. Foran said none had deeper hope than labor, adding, however, that if the negotiations deemed it advisable to turn down the British proposals they will have the cooperation of labor in any events which might follow.

This statement was loudly applauded by the delegates.

Later Eamonn de Valera visited the conference and was enthusiastically cheered. In a long speech he paid tribute to the support given by labor in America and elsewhere to the Irish cause.

O. K. $14,004,650 BUILDING WORK HERE IN MONTH

Building permits for work to cost $14,004,650 were issued by the city building department in July. This is in contrast with permits for $6,669,306 of work in July, 1920, and only $7,484,200 of work in June, 1921.

Permits for 124 apartment houses and 510 residences were issued last month. In June a year ago there were permits for only six apartment houses and only 156 residences.

Sees Return to Normal.
These figures indicate building conditions are slowly approaching normal, according to E. H. Nordlie, chief plan examiner for the city building department.

"The statistics for June and July this year show the people are confident. Judge Landis will settle the building trades controversy, Mr. Nordlie said. Prices still are high, to be sure, but the people must have homes."

Comparison of Two Years.
Comparative statistics on building in the two years follow:

	July, 1920.	June, 1921.	July, 1921.
Residences	156	436	510
Apartment houses	6	117	124
Others	9	97	30

Total 253 675 700
Permits 9,718 ft. 18,510 ft. 21,463 ft.
Cost $6,669,306 $7,484,200 $14,004,650

In the $14,000,000 work authorized last month, there was only one really large job, that for a building to cost $1,000,000.

JOSEPH E. OTIS RESCUES FIVE IN LAKE STORM

Five Chicagoans, adrift in a disabled launch in Little Traverse Bay, northern Michigan, were rescued Sunday after a two-hour battle with the waves and high wind.

Joseph E. Otis, president of the Central Trust company of Illinois, another Chicagoan, was the rescuer.

George H. Wilson, vice president of the Fort Dearborn National bank, his son, George, and Robert Grant of the Grant art galleries and his two sons, Robert and Gerald, had left Petoskey, Mich., on a fishing trip in the launch.

After fishing for some time and with a high wind coming up, they decided to return, but were unable to start the engine. After drifting for several hours they were rescued by the Otis party, who threw a line to the disabled craft and towed it into Harbor Point.

ALGONQUIN MOVIE TO BE SHOWN FOR BAZAAR LEADERS

BY REV. C. A. MAC WHORTER.

And now Camp Algonquin has gone into the "movies"—with a regular scenario writer, director, producer, stars, and everything. The title of the latest release is "Out of Squallor into the Sunshine," and the director-producer is Edw. C. Jones, director of summer outings for the United Charities.

The picture will be shown for the first time this year tomorrow evening at the Chicago Beach hotel, before the executive committee in charge of the bazaar-carnival to be held next Tuesday afternoon and evening on the "Boardwalk" for the benefit of Camp Algonquin and the free ice funds.

Most of the scenes are taken at Camp Algonquin, but there are close-ups of mothers and children in the crowded neighborhoods of Chicago, trainloads of happy families departing for the camp, and many incidents of life at Camp Algonquin.

At a meeting yesterday of the executive committee in charge of the bazaar-carnival of the various committees were appointed. Mrs. E. W. Peck, treasurer of the carnival, will act as temporary chairman in charge of the whole event.

Mrs. C. H. Lowenthal will be in charge of the dance pavilion and will have a large group of pretty girls selling tickets for dances.

Mrs. John Balaban is chairman of the theatrical entertainment committee and has several prominent stars engaged for the carnival.

Other committees and their chairmen are: General store, Mrs. E. M. Adams; candy and cigars, Mrs. Edward F. Keefe; fancy work, Mrs. O. S. Baylies; games, Mrs. Richard W. Phillips; ice cream and soft drinks, Mrs. C. S. Churchill; delicatessen, Mrs. Arthur J. Richter and Mrs. Max Ettlinger.

ONLY BIRD THAT RENTS HOME IS CUCKOO, SAYS HE

"The only bird who lives in rented apartments in borrowed trees is the cuckoo, and he never amounts to much anyway," was the warning E. K. Corning, president of the National Building Supply association, issued yesterday.

It was aimed at the hundreds of homeseekers attending the first session of the four day conference on small house problems, which opened on the sixth floor of the Leiter building in connection with the permanent housing exhibit.

"You can't have a home and all the other luxuries, too," admitted Mr. Corning, "but the real American spirit lists as its first and most necessary luxury the American home."

Home building on the cafeteria plan is a feature of the exhibit. The house that Jack wishes to build, beginning with the plot of ground and ending with the embroidered guest towel on the rack, may be purchased here, according to Manager Henry A. Guthrie.

Pipeless furnaces, beds that get up and walk, gold fish that don't die, water heaters without laryngitis, and ash "hoists" that really hoist are a few of the matrimonial impediments on display.

Knoxville Police Hunt Slayer of Girl, 19

Knoxville, Tenn., Aug. 1.—[Special.]—Sheriff W. T. Cate and Chief of Police E. M. Haynes tonight are hunting a midnight intruder who, at an early hour Monday shot and killed Ida Tilson, 19, at her home here.

Although the victim was sleeping beside her sister at the time, the sister could offer little information to officers other than the shooting was done by a man carrying a flashlight.

'Frocks and Suits of Autumn 1921

Bring More Decided Differences to the Mode
Than Those of Several Seasons Past

A most refreshing air of "change" comes with the new fashions. Not so much in line—for the silhouette retains its slim youthfulness—but in detail, cleverly brought out. In the frocks and suits here, these details are handled with a finesse which gives a real distinction. Discrimination is shown in adapting only those features worthy of continued vogue, an important point in the early selection of a new season's wardrobe.

The Sleeve Proves the Newness of Frocks of Silk or Wool Fabrics

Many charming versions of the new widened sleeve are seen in these frocks. Rows and rows of fine braidings are noted, and slim jeweled girdles to emphasize the lines straight from shoulder to hem. Georgette crepe and Canton crepe are often combined.

Moire ribbons, cellophane ornaments, and smart monkey fur are uncommonly smart trimmings which take precedence. Prices are $40 to $175.

Fourth Floor, North and South.

Fall Suits, With or Without Fur, Long or Short, Straight or Flaring

Those without fur follow the vogue for braiding. The new soft surfaced material, "Moussine," is a delightful background for embroidery or furs. Suits, all black, are enriched with American broad-tail (South American lamb).

Cossack collars, almost to the tip of the ears, and long flat tuxedo collars are extremes which meet in the new suit fashions. Prices are $65 to $225.

FRIENDS OF U. S. VALUATION PLAN GIVE THEIR VIEWS

Opposition by Importers to Be Aired Today.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Washington, D. C., Aug. 1.—[Special.]—The American valuation plan of the Fordney tariff bill was described by manufacturers before the senate finance committee as the only feasible scheme with which to meet exchange conditions.

Witnesses included J. F. Zoller of New York, representing the American Valuation association, composed of manufacturers favoring the plan, Charles A. Biehler of New York, for the Allied, Lace and Embroidery association; Frederick E. Kip of Montclair, N. J., textile manufacturer; Alphonse Winter, manufacturer of Association of Bridgeport, Conn., and William P. Clark, international president of the Flint Glass Workers' union, all of whom favored the American valuation plan.

Opposition Starts Today.
One witness, Walter S. Hilbourn of New York, representing jewelry importers, appeared in opposition. The heavy guns of the importers against the plan will be fired tomorrow when Thomas J. Doherty of New York will appear for the National Council of American Importers and Traders.

Mr. Zoller said that the foreign valuation system is inequitable.

"Due to depreciation of foreign currency, as a result of the war, it is impossible to impose a fair and just ad valorem duty using the foreign value as a base," he said. "This can best be understood by taking the German mark as an example."

"In 1914 the mark, as measured by our money, was worth approximately 24 cents. Now it is worth about 1.3 cents. A 33-1/3 per cent duty imposed in 1914 on a German product having a foreign value of 200 marks would amount to $11.50."

"Today the same duty would amount to only about 65 cents. The Japanese yen, on the other hand, has not depreciated to the same extent. A yen in 1914 was worth about 50 cents. Today it is still worth 45 cents."

What Industry Seeks.
"If an ad valorem duty were imposed upon German goods at this time at a rate sufficient to give protection to American industry, it doubtless would be absolutely prohibitive against Japanese goods, as well as against goods from Great Britain and other countries whose currency has not depreciated to the same extent."

"Industry does not want a prohibitive tariff. It is simply seeking tariff sufficient to secure a differential between labor costs here and abroad, so that the present standard of living conditions for the American working man and woman may be maintained in this country."

AUTO GANG GETS $3,905 FROM A BANK MESSENGER

Edward Rydzewski of 7839 South Shore drive, 21 year old son of a director of the Ogden Avenue State bank, was robbed of $3,905 by five bandits in a touring car yesterday.

Rydzewski is a messenger for the bank. As he emerged from the Borden Farm Products company office at 24th street and Crawford avenue a man on the opposite side of the street waved a folded newspaper. The next instant the machine raced up to the curb and two men jumped out and covered him with revolvers.

"Don't yell or we'll shoot you," they warned, and were gone with their loot. Several auto squads of police searched the district without success. The bandits are thought to be the same gang that took $5,000 last week after intimidating employees at another branch house of the Borden company.

EARS, ARTIFICIAL HAIR, VOGUE FOR WINTER, HAIRDRESSERS' EDICT

Make America safe for ears! It's the motto of the first annual convention of the National Hairdressers' association, which is in session at the Hotel Sherman. After several seasons of enforced imprisonment behind the bars of "rats," hair muffs, nets and "buns," ears are coming out, boldly, baldly, and in pairs.

Lady Godiva would have had a terrible time the day of her famous ride if the National Hairdressers had been around. For they insist the ultra smart coiffure be the "dignified high dressing."

Even the flapper, if she is to be fashionable, must take another hour with her hair and do it on high.

"From no hair we are going to much hair," predicts Edward Coulson, president of the Chicago and Illinois Hairdressers' association. It is not his idea to make two hairs grow where but one was crimped before. The solution is more simple.

"Artificial hair is to be the vogue for the winter," says Mr. Coulson. "Puffs, transformations, pin curls, spit curls, pin waves, braids—you will see them all this season. Woman's head will become more and more false."

Charles Kozlay, temporary chairman of the convention, urges American styles for American women. He believes we have followed too long in the wake of Parisian hair waves and recommends the made-in-America coiffure.

"It is difficult to predict a style," confesses Charles Nemes, "for it is getting more and more difficult to lead women. They are so independent they won't even follow the style of hairdressing of their favorite moving picture actresses."

ALLIED SUPREME COUNCIL TO MEET IN PARIS AUG. 8

PARIS, Aug. 1.—It has been definitely decided that the next session of the allied supreme council, at which the question of Upper Silesia will be taken up, shall be held in Paris, beginning Aug. 8.

The date first proposed for the meeting was Aug. 4, but Lord Curzon, the British secretary for foreign affairs, asked last week in the final British note of the correspondence with France over the Silesian question that Aug. 8 be selected, as Premier Bonomi of Italy would be unable to attend sooner.

France Agrees to Date.
LONDON, Aug. 1.—The British foreign office today received a reply from Premier Briand of France accepting the proposal that the next meeting of the allied supreme council be held in Paris Aug. 8.

Premier Lloyd George, Lord Curzon, the secretary for foreign affairs, and other officials of the foreign office will leave London Sunday for the meeting.

Premier Bonomi of Italy and Marquis Della Torretta, Italian minister of foreign affairs, also will be present. The latest telegrams from Upper Silesia report the situation there as quiet, but the French authorities there have let it be known that if any trouble develops from either the Poles or the Germans the allied forces will act together, and Germany has issued a proclamation warning all Germans in Silesia and on its borders to maintain absolute order.

Debate Reinforcements First.
Mr. Lloyd George said in the house of commons today that at the supreme council meeting the first item on the agenda would be to decide whether reinforcements were needed in the plebiscite area pending announcement of the adjudication on the whole plebiscite issue.

Sell the Idea

When vacuum cleaners were first put on the market, the maker had to first "sell the idea" of a better method of cleaning.

The adding machine man sold the idea of better bookkeeping.

So the cash register sale follows the "selling of the idea" of better storekeeping.

First came the idea of safety razors, rustproof iron, massage creams, indirect lighting and fireless cookers.

The Bell Telephone sells a belief in its wonderful service—one railroad sells us its roadbed—another its anthracite coal!

Ideas can be sold as material things are sold—by good and repeated advertising.

It takes time to sell a great public anything. Whether for goods or service, if you expect its general adoption by 1925 you should begin in 1921 to "sell the idea."

The public is uninterested, lethargic and forgetful.

Brilliant strokes and meteoric sales campaigns exist chiefly in story books. But the persistent selling of the right ideas will win a national following with an eventual strength and power almost glacial.

"Selling the idea" is slang for securing the demand by the public of anything from dillies to daylight-saving.

'LOVE OR LEAVE U. S.' KEYNOTE AT ROCK RIVER

Congressman Talks at Camp Meeting.

Dixon, Ill., Aug. 1.—[Special.]—The thirty-fourth annual session of the Rock River assembly was in full swing today.

The Rev. William H. Nicholas, D. D., of the First Lutheran church at Springfield, active in the recent "cleanup campaign" in that city, said:

"Many people wink at the modern evils and insist they are the result of war conditions and will soon be forgotten. No such thing will happen."

"Unless the army of Christian believers assume an united front of aggressive antagonism to the unlawful and sinful practices that are sweeping our country, when elected officers of city and state violate openly the laws made by our legislators, some new organized force must make itself felt to bring results."

William Valle, congressman from the First Colorado district, a member of the house immigration committee, said his message to aliens in this country was:

"Love it or leave it."

"In spite of idle suggestions that we organize and establish a new government," he said, "all sane citizens realize that such a plan would be folly. Our government and our laws are severely criticized, yet they are the best government and the best laws that men have been able to formulate."

"People like to make such sweeping statements as 'We are all foreigners, we all came from other countries.' In reality this is not true."

"In reality we have achieved a national consciousness. We feel the spirit of a unified people. We are not a confused conglomeration of foreigners as some people would make us believe. We love our country and government and I repeat that we must say to our immigrants, 'Love it or leave it.'"

1921 is rewarding FIGHTERS

THE Holland Furnace Company began an advertising campaign in The Tribune in September, 1920. It was decided to run a full page every month. That schedule has been adhered to in the face of general depression and many adverse conditions. The result is summed up as follows by C. D. Karr, advertising manager:

As you would naturally suppose, our business in the Spring of 1920 was by far the best that we had ever had up to that time. You will be interested to know, however, that our sales during the past three months have been 25% better than our sales for the corresponding months of last year. Our Chicago Tribune advertising deserves much of the credit for this splendid result.

You will be interested to know, too, that when you came out with your slogan "1921 W.I. Reward FIGHTERS," we began at once, and since have not stopped doing everything in our power to make that thought an uppermost ideal in the heart of every one of our salesmen. Judging from the present outlook the demand for Holland Furnaces this year is again going to be greater than we can supply.

THE ADVERTISING columns of The Tribune form a directory of the firms who are fighting aggressively for business and thereby building the foundation of a new prosperity for every one. They are using The Tribune because as a force for stimulating sales there is no question that—

SHIPS FEAR WAR MAY END THEIR BIG U. S. MARKET

Economically Dependent on America.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
TIENTSIN, Aug. 1.—Japan's apparent change of strategy and the expressed willingness to reduce its program of capital ships, but without saying anything about auxiliaries, is believed to be due to the realization that it would be forced to submission within a year or eighteen months without having fired a shot from one of its big ships and this through the medium of an economic blockade.

A few figures by Baron Goto, mayor of Tokyo: Raito Fujiyama, president of the Tokyo chamber of commerce, and other influential men of the nonbelligerent type give some explanation of the apparent revision of Japan's naval program.

Silk to United States.
Japan in 1920 sold 100 per cent of its silk to the United States. In 1921 it sold 85 per cent of its silk to the United States. It also sells to the United States 90 per cent of its cotton and 70 per cent of its porcelain. It exports to the United States 50 per cent of its cotton and probably 50 per cent of its steel. These are the main materials necessary for Japan's great trade with China and India. As Baron Goto phrased it, "Just cut off even our silk trade, and see what will happen to Japan."

So Japan's greatest fear is a blockade, and to keep its seas open and blockading ships scattered a great force of auxiliaries, such as submarines, destroyers, airplanes, and fast cruisers of great range, is essential, rather than battleships or battle cruisers.

Freedom of Seas.

"But here comes up a delicate question, regarding the freedom of the seas, and having a side effect upon the Anglo-Japanese alliance. The question of the freedom of the seas was unsettled when the United States entered the world war, and was not renewed by President Wilson, owing to his faith in the league of nations. There are some who believe that in the possible event of a break between the United States and Japan, Great Britain, in an effort to recapture the trade lost to both countries while it was busy at war, will insist upon revising its late view of the freedom of the seas and will try to carry cargoes to Japan."

Warrants for Two Cops

Who Broke Up Bug Club

Warrants were issued yesterday for South Park policemen B. A. Redmond and Harry Speaker, who broke up a meeting of the Bug club in Washington park several weeks ago and are alleged to have slugged Lawrence J. Ryan, an ex-soldier. Municipal Judge Joseph Schulman granted the warrants to John Conroy, 127 North Dearborn street.

Claims Ford's Shoals Offer 200 Million Loss to U. S.

According to George M. Wiener, consulting engineer of the Sanitary district of Chicago, who built the hydroelectric development which now lights the city of Chicago, the acceptance of Henry Ford's offer for Muscle Shoals would entail a loss to the government of $200,000,000. The value of the water power alone, according to Mr. Wiener, is worth between $20,000,000 and $40,000,000 a year, according to the price received.

The lower figure is obtained by assuming that the power will be worth to Mr. Ford .5 of a cent per kilowatt hour, the price paid by the United States government for power in that district.

The higher figure is the income to be derived from power at 1 cent a kilowatt hour, a figure much lower than the average price per hour charged by public service corporations.

The highest amount to be paid by Mr. Ford per year at any time during the proposed franchise is $1,781,500. Deducting this from an income of $20,000,000 a year leaves a balance of $18,218,500, out of which is paid the operating expenses of the plant, which would not exceed $200,000 a year, leaving Mr. Ford, on any basis of figuring, a profit of $18,018,500 a year.

Putting the Loss in Figures.

The detailed figures showing the government losses follow:

What Ford Wants for $5,000,000.

Ford offers to pay $5,000,000 for the two nitrate plants, one brand new 65,000 kilowatt steam turbine electric generating plant, one 20,000 kilowatt electric plant at Warrior river, 2,400 acres of land and all plant and equipment.

The two electric plants with present prices would cost $13,000,000 to reproduce. The land is valued at $240,000. There is reported to be over $1,000,000 worth of supplies, tools, etc., on hand.

Also there are housing facilities for several thousand employees with elaborate water, sewerage and electric light systems. What the balance of the nitrate plants is worth is unknown, but the cost of the entire installation is reported to have been approximately $3,000,000.

The main buildings of the nitrate plants are well constructed, completely equipped, including machine shops, fire protection, railroad tracks, etc. It would seem that this installation, if it has any use at all, is worth at least $27,000,000.

WOOD OFF TO VIEW SHADOWS OF SOUTH SEAS

Moros Turn to Piracy,
Mission Hears.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

(Copyright, 1921, By The Chicago Tribune.)

SAN JOSE, P. I., Aug. 1.—Gen.

Wood, the probable next governor of the Philippines, arrived here today, completing the first lap of his inspection tour of the southern islands. The mission will spend thirty days investigating the Mohammedan tribes, Moro province, the Sulu archipelago, and the Japanese activities in Mindanao and Palawan provinces.

This part of the Philippines is held by travelers to be the loveliest part of the group and is rich in commercial possibilities.

After returning to Manila to complete its report on conditions in the southern islands, which will probably take two or three weeks, the mission will leave for China and Japan, reaching the United States late in November.

Natives Becoming Reconciled.

At present the Philippines appear to be reconciled to the postponement of independence even for so long a period as twenty-five years. A young candidate for the senate said today:

"I wish this big bear of independence were out of the way and I could get a real platform to run on. I hate to run on the nationalist platform, which mentions nothing but independence, but I am afraid to do anything else, for I could not be elected otherwise. I must stand and speak for independence, but I wish it could be put off for twenty-five years."

While nothing here has been given out as to the mission's report to Secretary of War Weeks it can have but one trend—against immediate independence. The final report will merely prove this and will elaborate propositions for helping the Filipinos to improve their social and economic conditions.

Wood Eager to Visit Moros.

Gen. Wood and his staff are looking forward with keen interest to their visit of Moroland, where in the old days they fought and where they had to bury rows of dead to get the brave tribesmen to accept American sovereignty.

There are indications that all is not well there. The killing of ninety-three Moros in a fight with the constabulary may have been only an incident, but perhaps it will show an underlying discontent which might breed future trouble.

The character of the Moros seems to remain the same through the centuries. A case in a Jolo court, reported in a Zamboanga paper, shows that they are still the terrors of the South seas.

According to the newspaper account, a Malay craft from Dutch Borneo, on which were three young women, three children, and five men, when off the Sangar archipelago were attacked by six boats manned by thirty pirates, under the command of a Moro chief. This was a year ago.

Pirates Carry Off Girls.

The pirates took the vessel's cargo, forced the victims to jump into the water and set fire to the craft, and carried away two of the girls. The craft did not sink and the survivors finally reached a rock, where they spent six days, undergoing terrible hardships. The pirates with their captives sailed to the island of Marurung, where the chief took one for himself. Finally the two girls escaped and returned to their home in Borneo.

The Dutch government sent out a gunboat to patrol the seas and arrested six of the pirates. Later the Philippine constabulary arrested the chief.

DEATH OF BLOOD POISONING.

Michael Grallan, 25 years old, 425 South Hermitage avenue, died at the Presbyterian hospital yesterday of blood poisoning due to an infection in a cut he received when he cut his finger two months ago with a pocket knife. He was employed at the hospital as a laborer.

If Your Business Was Within 1% of Last Year

YOU would know that you had been giving very satisfactory service to a large number of customers if your business was one of the largest in the country and was within one per cent. of last year's volume.

This is the record of The Indianapolis News. For years it has been first in volume of advertising, or among the first half dozen papers in America published six days a week. The News is one of the few leading papers in the country whose advertising volume this year is equaling that of last year.

This is because The News has always made it its business to see that News advertising has been properly used and not abused. The News discourages "flash" campaigns—advertising run with a splurge to influence dealers to stock a product.

The News seeks only advertising where there is distribution to warrant the expense. Manufacturers are urged to merchandise through, rather than just advertise in The News.

The Indianapolis Radius is a complete, independent market. It can be covered thoroughly and with one cost through The News, which has the largest newspaper circulation in Indiana.

PIANO FLOOR PATTERNS

When you are considering buying or moving a piano, one of your problems may be the floor space required. This is where a set of our floor patterns with natural color keyboard is so valuable. It enables you to visualize a piano in any room you wish. Simply place the pattern on the floor and it shows just how much space is actually required by a piano whether of the Grand or Upright type. We will send you a set free.

THE SUPREME TEST

THE delight of good music is assured with a piano only if the musical qualities of the instrument are beyond reproach. These are the result of perfect craftsmanship and excellent materials which insure distinctive beauty of tone, the true index of the worth of a piano. Unless it has a charming voice it fails utterly.

Secondarily of course a piano should possess beauty of case. Fine externals are essential to complete the exacting requirements demanded of the modern piano. Modern and graceful in design, exquisite in tone, Lyon & Healy pianos have won unstinted admiration.

PIANOS OF ALL KINDS

ALL styles and types of pianos are shown in profusion. Our sales floors offer a most interesting display. The man or woman seeking an instrument of character will find here true standards of value. Foremost in our showing is the Steinway. Long the piano of the immortals it is today supreme. A pleasing group has been arranged for the inspection of those interested. Lyon & Healy Apartment Grands and Uprights present unique features and at the recently reduced prices are in a class by themselves.

The celebrated Duo-Art Piano is shown in a complete music salon.

The famous Pianola Piano, into the creation of which have gone the best efforts of the Aeolian Company, is here. The position it has achieved is indicative of the quality of the instrument.

Other pianos shown are the Aeolian Player Pianos. These are of great tonal beauty and are most desirable. They truly bring music into the home.

Popular priced Upright pianos which can be obtained for as little as $10 monthly continue our leadership in this everwidening field. Students and children will find them exactly what they have been looking for.

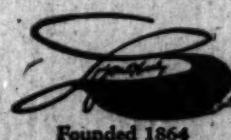

TERMS: Our action in radically reducing prices on all pianos of our own manufacture is further supplemented by the convenient terms purchasers can obtain here. On any style instrument which you select you may make a small first payment. The balance may be paid in convenient monthly remittances. Liberal allowances are made for old pianos taken in exchange.

SPECIAL VALUES

At times it is possible for us to offer pianos of good musical quality at very low prices. Fortunate purchases or season-end sales are instances of such occasions. Just at present we have a number of instruments which we have priced at most attractive figures. Families which have considered buying but have delayed in obtaining a piano will be interested in the display of instruments of this type which we are showing.

Among them are modernized instruments, a few of which have been listed at the left. For practical purposes a piano so treated is as good as new, and the prices are well within the reach of moderate-sized purses.

Another group of pianos which offers economy includes a number of student instruments. These may be obtained at small cost and though not of the latest design or finish, their action and tone are satisfactory.

The instruments mentioned are but a few of those shown in our extensive display. To come here when considering the purchase of a piano is to obtain a practical knowledge of piano values.

NEW QUESTIONING OF MRS. DEMMER IN KOLZE DEATHS

State Seeks Explanation of Arsenic in Bodies.

The arsenic trail through the bodies of Fred H. Kolze and his wife has led the authorities to the home of Mrs. Mary Demmer, Kolze's housekeeper.

It was announced that she will be questioned this morning by county authorities for renewed questioning.

Though she will not be formally arrested pending the examination of the body of her husband, John Demmer, at the examination of his vital organs for traces of arsenic, she will be asked and questioned by the state's attorney's office until her attorneys effect her release.

"It is possible that grand jury action will be taken this week," said Ernest Hodges, acting first assistant state's attorney, "and we expect important developments today."

Difficult to Find Body.

Coroner Peter M. Hoffman says he is confident poison will be found in the body of her husband. The detective and representatives of the coronator and the state's attorney who are at Oakley, Wis., now, where Demmer was buried eight years ago, may have some trouble finding the body. It is said the cemetery has been plowed over in recent years and that the headstones identifying the graves have been replaced by guano.

"The Kolzes and the Marwoods, the first settlers in Kolze, Franklin Park, Schiller Park, and Des Plaines, intermarried," said Coroner Hoffman. "Turne of the Marwood boys married Mrs. Kolze's sister, and Mrs. Kolze married Edna Marwood, his cousin."

"The Demmers came to live with him. He became friendly with Mrs. Demmer. Thereafter Mrs. Kolze died. He left her husband a life interest in $10,000 worth of property in Villa Park. We have learned he sold some of this property and put the money in a joint account with Mrs. Demmer."

Money Taken from Bank.

"The day Kolze died Mrs. Demmer took the money out of the bank. She says it amounted to $3,000. I don't know what the sum was. Then she went to the bank at Bensenville, Ill., where she and Kolze had a joint safety deposit vault. Whether she put the money in the safety deposit vault or removed securities from the vault I don't know."

"On the day of the funeral she had herself made guardian of Kolze's son, Fred Jr., 9 years old, and in that capacity administered the estate. She said she executed a will which she executed a few days before his death. It cannot be found. Mrs. Demmer says he died intestate."

DEFENDS MRS. DEMMER.

Colley, Wis., Aug. 1.—"My mother-in-law is innocent. My parents and John Demmer died natural deaths."

Herbert Kolze, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kolze, made this statement today. He said under the Illinois authorities intended to exhume the body of Demmer and that he wanted to look out for the interests of Mrs. Demmer.

HIGH COST FOE OPENS WAR ON CANDY PRICES

Taking his tip from the announcement of a New York firm reducing candy prices approximately 50 per cent, City Hill Chief Expert Russell J. Poole mapped out a campaign yesterday to put sweets on the price totem pole in Chicago.

"There is no doubt that as much as 100 per cent profit on candy is being made by Chicago firms," Mr. Poole said. "Candy, like sodas, must get back to price normalcy or remain in the path of a buyer's strike."

Investigators for the council living costs committee will begin compiling data on profits of candy manufacturers and retailers today. Mr. Poole said, for a report to Ald. S. W. Govey, chairman of the committee.

Candy is selling as high as $1.50 a pound in Chicago. The best candy, in spite of the higher pay of candy dips and increased rents, can be sold at 75 and 80 cents a pound with a good profit, according to Poole.

"The fondant of all candy is sugar," the expert says. "In chocolate creams the fondant is 95 per cent of the candy. Sugar has dropped from more than 30 cents to 6 cents. Other ingredients—cream, butter, and glucose—are not high enough to warrant a 15 or 20 cent candy. Milk chocolate is 13 cents a pound and bitter chocolate 25."

BY FITZMORRIS

Lieut. Sylvester Cotter, Desk Sergeant Michael Minter, and Operator Robert Casey of the Town Hall station were suspended yesterday by Chief Fitzmorris, "pending investigation of charges."

According to Assistant Chief Alcock, Patrolman Paul Wons admitted at a recent session of the police trial board that he and Patrolman Patrick Waldron had accepted $150 from John Dugan, a resident of Michigan, whom Waldron and Wons locked up when they found Dugan's car wearing an Illinois license behind and a Michigan license in front.

"Wons says the $150 was split with Waldron, Minter, and Casey," Alcock said. "Cotter failed to investigate Dugan's complaint promptly."

"Cotter accepted no money," but was "negligent," Chief Fitzmorris said. "Minter, Waldron, and Casey deny the charges."

FARM AND GARDEN NEWS

Renovating the truck patch where vine crops are grown is usually necessary at this season of the year in order to get the maximum yield of cucumbers, squashes, pumpkins, and cantaloupes. Vine crops are too often neglected after the long runners begin to form and cover the ground. About all that some growers do after the last cultivation and the vines have filled the space between the rows is to gather the crop and perhaps occasionally pull a few weeds by hand.

Many times little attention is needed after the last cultivation, but this season vines have grown rapidly and in some cases they need attention. Some of the vines are ten and fifteen feet long. They will grow much longer if they are not interfered with and the season is favorable.

While the value of cutting the vines back is still questioned by some growers, others have found it worth while, for instance, in small gardens, for evenness, where space conservation is necessary and the plants are close together, it is often advisable to pinch off the shoots. Six foot vines are long enough where cucumbers are planted four feet apart, as is frequently done on city plots. They are pinched off with the fingers or cut off with scissors where the shoots form a fork with the last leaf, and the blossom is left on.

Cantaloupes vines may be allowed to grow a little longer, but they should be cut back when they exceed eight feet. Fruit seldom forms on squash vines where the shoots "run long."

DIRECT YOUR 'ADS'
AT THE WOMEN,
RETAILERS TOLD

"One of the best ways to help your business now is by advertising to the women." This advice was given the National Congress of Retail Merchants yesterday at their convention in the Hotel La Salle, by J. R. Mooney of Temple, Okla. "The men are content to let things slide," Mr. Mooney said. "The wife reminds the man he needs a new shirt."

Optimism also was apparent at the first session of the Association of Retailers, who opened a five day convention in the same hotel. "Indications for business will be back to normal by fall," said M. D. Kobey, president.

Five hundred merchants, carrying 300 lines of holiday goods and notions, opened the nineteenth merchandise exposition of the Manufacturers and Importers' Association of America yesterday in the Palmer house.

IN BOOK FORM IT WOULD COST $2; TO YOU, 2 CENTS

Two Kings, 2 Princesses Raise the Deuce.

King Eli, monarch of the Peruvian gypsies in this country, and two sons of the royal blood—Prince Steve and the Princess Rosaline—were conveyed back to Chicago yesterday by Lieut. William Schoemaker and his yeomen of the detective bureau. They were arrested by an Indiana sheriff about a fortnight ago on charges of robbing the Princess Albina, 116 North Halsted street, of a necklace composed of twenty-five $20 gold pieces.

Now, her latter highness is a niece of King Tim Bimbo, head of the Mexican gypsies, and behind her charges there lies a feud of Romany royalty.

It was in 1912, according to King Eli, that a gypsy lad, named Spero Yanis, coaxed the comely Rosaline from his majesty's palace in Norfolk, Va., and carried her away under the influence of sleeping powders. The next she knew she was in California, the home of climate.

Princess Turns Seeress.

"They were wedded without a dowry," continued his majesty. "and five years ago in Mexico a child, Diana, was born. The Princess Rosaline was kept in a stupor a great part of the time, but she earned much wealth by fortune telling."

"Then this Albina appeared and Spero began to mistreat my daughter. He cut her and bruised her. He took away $2,500 worth of jewelry, and $2,000 in money and an automobile—all the fruit of palm reading. Finally the Princess Rosaline could stand it no longer. She crossed the border into Arizona."

But Spero followed his royal bride to Virginia.

"He and King Tina offered me $4,500 if I would give back my daughter to Spero and allow her sister, the Princess Marie, to marry a son of Tina's," said King Eli. "I told him I had never sold a child of mine, and wouldn't."

Wherefore vengeance was sworn by the Mexican monarch. Early in July, when a conclave of the gypsies was being held in Lyons, he had Eli and his household kidnaped and held for trial.

Allons! To Battle!

After two weeks of duance vile the royal prisoners determined on battle. "Allons!" cried King Eli. "St. George and the hoe of spades!"

Pierce was the battle fought. An ax descended upon the royal ribs. The brimstone thatches of the prince and princess were dented. Then the constabulary appeared and a just magistrate assessed every one $100 costs and made them leave the village.

"We were touring peacefully over Indiana when apprehended," said King Eli. "Neither I nor my retinue had engaged in felonious plunder, but King Tina swore out the warrant to gain his freedom. Gadzooks, the Princess Albina never possessed any jewelry, unless Spero gave her the stuff he stole from my daughter Rosaline."

The feud will be continued in the Maxwell street court tomorrow.

FIREMEN WANT
LANDIS AS 'UMP'
FOR BALL GAMES

John F. Cullerton, business manager of the Chicago fire department, has asked Federal Judge Landis, high commissioner of baseball, to umpire the games here next week between teams of the Chicago and New York fire departments. An delegation of firemen will visit Judge Landis this morning to invite him to serve.

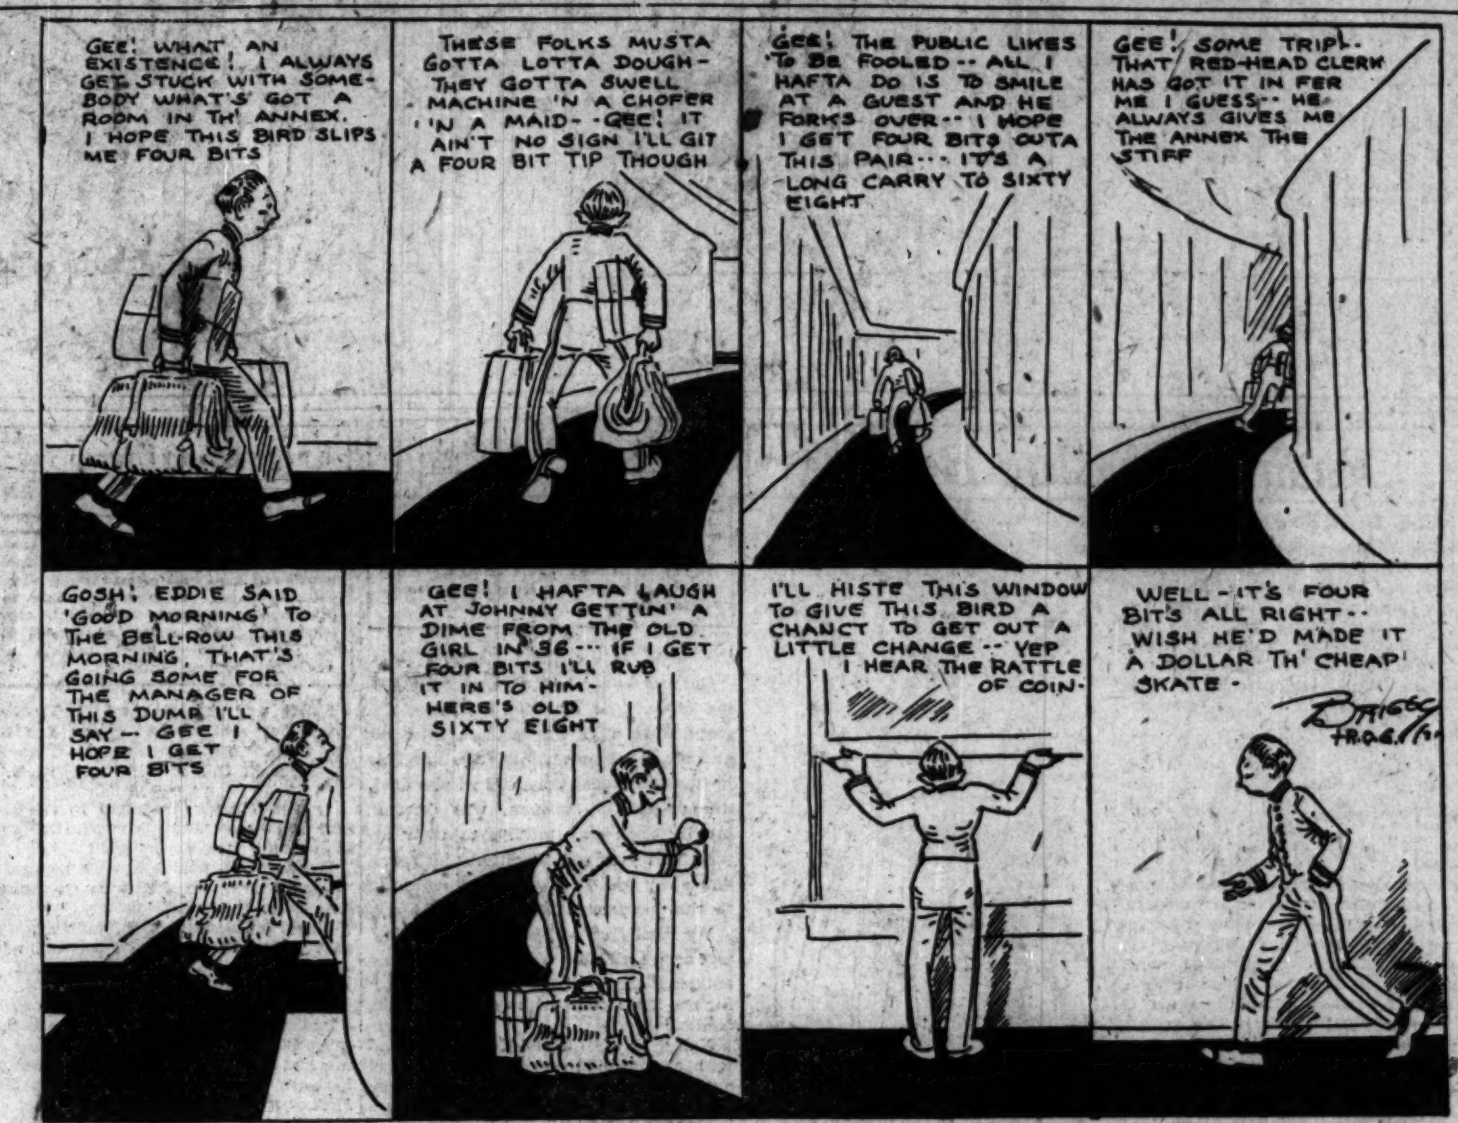

The ball games will be played on Aug. 10 and 12 at White Sox park and Aug. 11 at Cubs' park. The games have been arranged to aid the treasury of the Firemen's Mutual Aid and Benefit association.

The sale of tickets yesterday reached the $75,000 mark. The firemen aim to raise $100,000.

War Prices 'Jump' $25,000;
Firm Sues School Board

Suit for $75,000 against the board of education was filed in the Circuit court yesterday by Macley Hoynes, former state's attorney, in behalf of the Hansell & Elcock company, steel construction contractors. The company alleges it lost this amount through the rise in prices during the war, when it installed iron stairways in several school buildings. The board, the bill states, has refused to pay the deficit.

WONDER WHAT A BELLHOP IN A SUMMER RESORT HOTEL THINKS ABOUT

MEN ARE LIKE THAT

BY CLARA E. LAUGHLIN

"THAT'S NO BOX OFFICE STORY."

Sallie was on the stage, where a rehearsal was in progress. She had been called thence to the conference in Ryker's office, upstairs.

She was sitting, when Sudduth rejoined her, at the back of the stage, watching and listening, trying to learn from every direction given by Lester or Longman to the other players, every suggestion made by Allison and Quinn.

Sudduth bent over and whispered to her: "I want to ask you something."

She got up and followed him off the stage and into a corridor leading to the stage door, where they could talk without disturbing the rehearsal.

"I'm sorry," he began, "that you feel so sore about this publicity stuff. Sallie. If you begin getting cold on the proposition nothing can save it. You're no good at faking. You can never put this thing across unless you believe in it, and are happy about it. Now, what's got into you, little girl, about this advertising? Didn't the Prince write to you and tell you to go as far as you liked?"

"No, he didn't," Sallie replied, trying to keep her temper. "And even if he had said anything like that, I'd still feel as I do about that sort of lying rubbish. Why isn't it enough to say that he was interested in my stunt, and suggested my doing it, in England, and that he was kind to me when I was over there?"

"That's no box office story," Sudduth pleaded. "Many people are there in Manhattan who would pay to see you because of that! About enough to fill the front row for one night! But let 'em get the idea of a romance, that you're the kind of a girl he'd like to make queen of England, and so forth, and we'll pack 'em in with a shoe horn, every performance—the way they used to do for Langtry because his grandpa admired her. Come on, now, Sallie. Be a good sport! We're all in this thing too deep now to draw out without—well, just try to think what it would mean to all of us if you got cold feet now."

"I'm thinking of that—all of you," Sallie answered, "and I realize all that's at stake. I don't want to act up and make trouble for everybody. But I hate that nasty stuff! I'm humiliated and hurt by it. I feel like a fool if I go on with the show and sacrifice my sense of decency to not to gratify myself. It's because I feel obligated to so many of you that I'm bound to go on."

"O, come now!" he remonstrated. "It isn't as bad as all that. You're hysterical about it. That's what makes me think somebody's been working on your feelings, setting you up to this. Who is it? Your young man? Jealous, maybe?"

Sallie did not know she could be so furious. She was beginning to learn something of the terrible nerve tension of the theater.

"How dare you?" she cried. "I won't have it! Understand that, once and for all! I won't have it! Jim has never put me up to anything except to do my best and make a success of this thing. I won't have him under suspicion! You got that from Linda."

"I didn't," Jay hastened to interpose, and truthfully, in a degree. He had not got this particular suspicion from Linda, because he had not discussed with her this particular point—yet; but he had got from her a general attitude toward Jim as a drawback to Sallie, and one with whom it was devotedly to be hoped, she would soon be through.

But Sallie was not deceived nor appeased. She knew the attitude of her mother and sister toward Jim. They had imagined that when she came back from Europe, full of her experiences with what Jim called princes and dukes and earls and things, Jim Hale would look mighty insignificant and seem mighty dull to her. They were surprised that she still chose to spend so much time in his company, but they said nothing to her about it. They believed that in due time the new life she was entering upon would exclude him; any one could see that there was absolutely no place in it for him. If he encountered Jim, which they seldom did, they treated him not with courtesy but without discourtesy. Otherwise, they ignored his existence; never mentioned him in Sallie's hearing. She was perfectly aware, though, to what sort of mention he was subjected when she was not present. And she knew that Jay was, for the present, taking all his opinions from Linda.

Sallie had no liking for rows; she disliked them so much that for years she had sacrificed her will, even enslaved it, rather than fight for her rights. But she had learned lately that no one respects worms until they show that they can turn. And she was beginning to understand that the world is full of persons who are not naturally respectful of the rights of others, but yield those rights only so much respect as is demanded for them when the demand is backed with a threat of unpleasantness or a show of power. She hated to threaten unpleasantness, and she was doubtful if she could make any show of power, but she was determined not to let the aspersions on Jim go unrebuked. She must make plain to Jay that this sort of thing couldn't be done.

"Never mind, then, where you got the suspicion," she said, firmly. "It is unfounded, unjust. But I will accept your apology, and your promise that you will not offend again."

Jay also was a peace lover, and in addition to his general leaning that way he had special reasons for not wanting Sallie to fly off the handle. So he apologized.

"I'm sorry, Sallie," he said, simply and sincerely, and held out his hand.

N. U. DEAN FINDS CHICAGO CITY OF MISTAKEN VANITY

Must Clean House Before Boasting, He Says.

The only thing about which Chicago has a right to boast is its central location, declares Dean John H. Wigmore of the Northwestern Law school in a much discussed article appearing in the latest issue of the Alumni Journal of Northwestern university.

Dean Wigmore touches upon nineteen subjects, ranging from the possibility of war with Japan to baseball, and hammers out his beliefs on each one in such a straight from the shoulder fashion that his paper has created a sensation among leaders of the legal fraternity.

Chicago, he says, must clean house civically and politically before it has a right to boast of its achievements through such a medium as the Pageant of Progress, which he describes as a "pitiful exhibition of misguided vanity."

"Dirty, Smoky, Nasty."

"I believe that Chicago, in its destiny of civic happiness, prosperity, and leadership, is located just right," he says. "But that is the only thing about it that is as yet just right. It is still dirty, smoky, and nasty, noisy with needless noise, congested by inadequate traffic ways, disunited by commercial and industrial rivalries, stunted in public donations, infested with unpunished criminals, tardy in solving its civic problems, commonplace in political methods, and weak in aggressive, courageous leadership of good causes."

"It is lacking in all these things, relatively to its own acknowledged ideals. It can show little to boast of in the last twenty years. Instead of boasting should be heard the humble voice of a courageous resolution to make itself worthy of its location and of its past glory. And, in view of this, the projected Pageant of Progress, scheduled for next August, is merely a pitiful exhibition of misguided vanity."

Urges Political Housecleaning.

"Instead of deceiving ourselves by proclaiming a progress that is difficult to discern, let us rather highly resolve to clean house politically, to solve all our present civic problems promptly, and then to await with modesty the approbation which others will gladly award us when we merit it."

Soberly less severe is the dean's arraignment of the Irish propagandists in America.

"The South Irish readiness to abandon democratic England and join imperial Germany in the bloody world war was the saddest instance of political lunacy that history ever has recorded," he says. "The experience of American city government under Irish domination from 1870 to 1890 has revealed them as having a fatal affinity for politics and at the same time a fatal incapacity for government. Ireland was my father's native country, but by that and by no other country, America is my country."

Enemies Are Misdirected.

"If men of Irish stock in America would devote to the cause of good government here one-tenth of the interest which they are devoting to the cause of political unrest in Ireland and they were left behind them, the 'Wearing of the Green' might become the national American anthem."

Dean Wigmore advocates the short ballot and a unified state system of courts with another unified system in Chicago, "subject only to the state Supreme court." He lauds the party system in politics, but condemns the control of any party by strong personal organizations, "based on the exploitation of government for personal self."

He laments the fact that state legislatures throughout the country perform the "worst done job in the nation." He believes that the league of nations covenant should have been ratified with or without reservations in 1919 and that the "Japanese nightmare should be banished by all rational Americans."

How to Enforce Prohibition.

In enforcing the eighteenth amendment, Dean Wigmore would have the right to prescribe whisky as a medicine taken from the physicians and turned over to a state monopoly. He suggests that the state establish a large sanitarium for the treatment of those in need of intoxicants. He urges free transportation for the poor to this hospital and a scale of prices in accordance with the patient's means.

U. S. Grain Growers Cut
Officials' Pay $29,700

Salary reductions for ten executive officers of the United States Grain Growers, Inc., totaling $29,700 a year, were announced yesterday. The action followed a request by C. F. Gustafson, president; Frank M. Meyers, secretary; W. C. Eckhardt, treasurer; and Clifford Thomas, counsel; that their salaries be lowered to $10,000 each. The pay of directors was cut from $25 to $20 a day. Salaries authorized when the company was organized were: president, $16,000; secretary, $12,000; treasurer, $15,000; general counsel, $15,000.

Andrew Rinkur, 17, 3621 Emerald avenue, was injured by the auto of William Bishop, 3901 North Hermitage avenue, as he got off a street car at Van Buren and Paulina streets.

Mme. Pola Negri Is Alluring as the Wanton Carmen

"GYPSY BLOOD."
(Featuring Pola Negri.)
Released by First National.
Directed by Ernst Lubitch.
Presented at Orchestra Hall and Ravinia.

By Mae Tinee.

"GYPSY BLOOD" is the story of Carmen, and, needless to say, Pola Negri has the rôle of the wanton gypsy girl.

If you saw her in "Passion" you will let nothing prevent your seeing her in "Gypsy Blood." I couldn't be honest and tell you that the latter is as powerful a photoplay as the former, because it isn't. But Madame Negri herself as the graceful, graceless, profane creature whose heavy, passionate lips, flaming eyes and tigerish abandon make cravens of strong men and result finally in her own destruction, gives a unique and gripping portrayal of the familiar rôle.

The director is the man who made "Passion." In this picture he has done nothing notable, unless, perhaps he is to be credited with the casting. All of the acting is polished work, though the star absolutely dominates every situation.

The action, however, drags a little, and the finale is not unduly dramatic. We have direction over here who, with Pola Negri and her supporting cast, to work with, would have made a production far superior to Mr. Lubitch's "Gypsy Blood."

There is a question, too, as to whether or not the photography is quite up to snuff. I think not. You may disagree. Sets and scenery are creditable. Wonder what the next Negri picture will be like! She made a blinding start. May she not flaze out and drop like a sky rocket!

CLOSEUPS

David Butler, a discovery of Columbia (D. W.) Griffith, has just finished his second independent production. It is entitled "Bing, Bang Boom," which sounds perfectly foolish, doesn't it?

Wallace Reid, Elliott Dexter (Elliott Dexter, girls), and Gloria Swanson have started work on a new Paramount production called "Don't Tell Everything." It is from the story, "Rainbow's End," by Lorna Moon, and I think Tim Murphy should be seen in it.

A correspondent tells me that D. W. Griffith has established a studio at Alta Vista, in southern Virginia, having purchased a summer hotel property for that purpose.

They say that in the coming Douglas Fairbanks production of "The Three Musketeers" between seventy-five and a hundred sets will be used, all being exact counterparts of the rooms and buildings they represent. Never having seen same rooms and buildings—well—la! la!

Oliver Morosco says what the screen needs most of all is good screen literature. He declares, "I believe the expansion of stage plays of the right sort come the nearest to the solution at present."

Robert Hichens of "The Garden of Allah," etc., fame will write stories for Paramount.

The Rid-Jid is the famous board with the long end—easy to slip a skirt on it. Folds up compactly, light, easy to handle, and FIRM!

Fashion's Blue Book

BY CORINNE LOWE.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—The "Black and Tan" of fashion are not so much embarrassed as those of Erin. The fact of it is that this combination of color meets with little opposition, and the prospect for the fall is that it will have the style situation largely under control. Certainly the early autumn imports are rich in this assurance.

Suits of black trimmed with tan are here particularly stressed, and in this connection one must not forget to mention the new tan known by the French as Bouton d'Or. This tint is yellow in tone, and combines stunningly with black.

The passion for yellow has been noted all summer at the smart resorts, and from one of these resorts we transcribe direct the above charming and gaudy of pale yellow, trimmed with squares of silver lace and permitting a glimpse of corsage under the graceful black satin sash. Even in this season of sleeveless details this detail is here deserving of attention.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Frosted Sweet Potato.

If anybody likes candied sweet potato, there is no reason why the frosted sweet potato might not become a favorite with them, except two or three. Some people may think it is too like bread pudding, as it is, particularly after it is cold. And because it is of this nature, it needs to be set off with an accompaniment of good green vegetables. It may be made the center of a luncheon, and a pretty one, by serving it with rather piquant accompaniments.

This dish is of the nature of the English savory, served just before the cheese, which the meal. Perhaps the young Memphis girl, who serves this dish to her admiring friends, got it through English associations. At any rate, she serves it with fried chicken, in her small apartment in New York City, and her guests come away to ask everybody if they have had it. I do not remember to have seen a recipe in print for it, but we prepared it thus after receiving a description:

Boil, peel, mash, and season sweet potatoes as you would white. Put them into a buttered baking dish and cover with a buttered baking dish and cover with marshmallows "topping," mixed with a few chopped raisins. Put in hot oven and cook until it puffs and browns slightly. Serve from baking dish.

As an alternate to this, I tried beating up, lightly sweetening egg white, and adding raisins to it, using the yolks to enrich the potato, and found the effect almost identical, although the marshmallow is more likely to be crusty when baked than this.

A clever food man guessed before I could tell him that this was much like a good bread pudding.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

The Colonel's Lady.

Our car being laid up the commanding officer and his wife kindly condescended to offer my captain husband and me a lift to headquarters building in their car. The colonel's wife, a cold, unapproachable woman, was driving; my husband was talking to their attractive 7 year old daughter, and I was doing my best to say the correct thing to this superior officer.

We finally arrived at our destination, and as we glided a few feet beyond the entrance curb my husband said loudly for the little girl's amusement, "Whoo, Nellie."

Nellie at the wheel turned around with an icy glance, the colonel looked surprised to say the least, and the little girl said, "Captain, how did you know my mamma's name is Nellie?"

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $1 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Please write on one side of the paper. Address: Bright Sayings to Auntie Sue, Tribune, Chicago.

Maria was objecting to the Turkish towel her mother had given her for her bath. "But, mother, the Turk is all worn out this towel!" K. T.

It was Mary's first trip to the zoo and she was delighted with the animals, but soon grew tired.

Her mother, who was with her, said: "Now, Mary, we ought to go home. You must be tired."

Mary answered: "Oh, mother, if I only had another leg, I'd see them all over again!" J. C. K.

My grandson was 4 years old before I had seen him. When told I was his grandfather he looked appraisingly at me and said, "O, you're not a grandpa because grandpas have whiskers and rheumatism and everything." L. F.

DORIS BLAKE'S ANSWERS

The Best Advice.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a girl of 15 and am keeping friendship with a boy of 16. I have kept friendship with him for about two years. My mother knew we spoke to each other, but she didn't know our love. Now she tells me not to speak to him any more. All though we are too young, we thought we would keep friends till we are a little older. Can you please advise me what to do, as I never knew this would happen. I shall gladly take your advice, whatever it shall be." S. M. F. C.

"I would advise you to follow your mother's advice. Her advice is just the best in the world. Better than mine or any others for a girl of 15."

Bury Your Pride.

"Dear Miss Blake: I have been going out with a fellow for two years. He is one year my senior. Now that we are angry, is it my place to speak first. I love him dearly. Loveless."

"Yes, speak first. If it is going to patch up the quarrel. No one was ever made happier for withholding the word that smooths out the misunderstanding."

A FRIEND IN NEED

I want to be the student through which the friend in need and the friend in need have some discarded article which has not been brought together. It may be you would give it if you knew. I shall be only too happy to be of service to you. When information is wanted by mail a stamped addressed envelope should accompany the request. Please do not send parcels to the Tribune, but write for the address of the applicant and send direct.

"I have a baby carriage that I will give away to any one who needs it. It can be fixed up nicely with a little paint. If you will advise me the address of some one on the south side I will write them." W. C. T.

"I am a widow working hard every day and not strong. I have a crippled daughter who cannot work. We have two rooms which lack furniture. I would appreciate so much any help from some of your kind readers. A discarded rug and bedding are needed especially." Mrs. C. R.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

W. B. F.: EAT LOTS OF BUTTER on your bread, eat eggs, and drink a quart of milk a day. Divide the milk into a glass each meal and one before you retire. Cover your morning cereal with cream. And take it easy, if you want a little more upholding on your framework.

DANDRUFF: YES, IT IS A POPULAR remedy, and my correspondents who have tried it all agree it is a good one. Simple. Sixty grains of sulphur mixed with one ounce of vasoline, applied every other night, with massage. You need to wash the hair once a week or every ten days while using it.

BLONDE: O, THENCE BEEN saying that about us since Eve put on her first garden frock! Why shouldn't we be vain when we have the male sex to be so proud of? An' if we weren't vain we wouldn't have our hair marcelled or our nails manicured or do any prettifying up at all. So, it would seem our vice were our one best virtue. I guess the men like 'em that way, too, for they like to go stepping with the vain creature when she is at her most fixed up and vallest. Right, Mr. Watson?

Giant Fish of Sea Lure Chicagoans, Even Honeymooners

Stories of big catches of tuna, swordfish, and giant sea bass, which are coming from Catalina Island, make the average fish story pale in the telling. Chicagoans who are in the west are finding the sport quite worth waiting weeks for. Mr. and Mrs. John J. Mitchell Jr., who have been in Montecito for part of their honeymoon, are at Catalina for a few weeks' visit, and are hoping to land a prize tuna as a memento of their stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Spalding have returned to Catalina from a month's stay in southern California, and will spend the month of August on their island. Mr. Spalding has made the remarkable record of annexing all the tuna club buttons awarded for the fish taken in Catalina waters. Mrs. Spalding is also an expert angler, and is not far behind her husband in record catches.

Mr. and Mrs. K. G. Billings of Chicago and New York have taken a party of friends to the island for a three weeks' stay.

Miss Gertrude McCarthy, daughter of Col. and Mrs. D. E. McCarthy of 1424 North State parkway, returned yesterday from a two months' stay in New York. Col. and Mrs. McCarthy and Miss McCarthy will leave on Aug. 15 to spend the remainder of the season at Rye Beach, N. H.

Mrs. Bruce Borland and children of 1424 North State parkway, will leave tomorrow for Catalina, to spend the remainder of the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brayton Slade and son of 1243 North State street have left for a month's visit with Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Blydenburgh at Smithtown, L. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry K. Gilbert of 57 East Elm street, are at Peterboro, N. H., to remain until late September.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Withers have returned from their wedding journey and have taken the Bertrand Walker house in Lake Forest until Oct. 1, when they will occupy a house on Green Bay road. Mrs. Withers was formerly Miss Margaret Pirie.

Mrs. John C. Picher of 230 East Wilson place is at Easthampton, L. I., for the remainder of the summer.

Mrs. and Mrs. Franklin A. Luce of 107 North State parkway, are at Ocean Park, Cal., with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon D. Thatcher Jr. of Pueblo, Colo.

Mrs. Charles R. Vincent and two sons have gone to northern Michigan for a six weeks' stay.

Miss Julia Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Slason Thompson of Lake Forest, and Miss Lella Houghling, daughter of Mrs. James L. WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER. A Good Fortune Gone to Waste

Drama League to Give Summer Course on Art of the Stage

IF American actors and theatrical managers knew a hundredth part as much about the drama, as a vital, living possession of the people, as the Drama League purposes teaching in its "summer institute," beginning Aug. 15, there would be no occasion for groaning over the state of the American theater.

The league announced last evening the completion of a program of public lectures and of laboratory work which will bring together in Chicago leaders in the movement, while, as the league defines it, "aims to meet the nation's need of intelligent recreation."

To show how the people can do themselves and for themselves provide such recreation and at the same time make the stage a medium of culture is the purpose of the fortnight's intensive program of eleven courses in the theory and practice of stage art which the league will conduct from Aug. 15 to 25. Headquarters of this summer institute will be studios on the sixth floor of the Fine Arts building, but for the work of practical demonstration and stage performance the Civic theater on the municipal campus and the stage of Armour institute will be used.

There will be lectures and demonstrations on methods for developing dramatic art among high school, normal school, and collegiate students, on junior drama work, on playwriting and pageantry, on costume design and scenery, on the community theater and how to develop it, on makeup and on drama in the church and Sunday school.

All the lectures and instructors, many of whom are representatives of the Dalcroze institute of Switzerland, the Stratford-on-Avon School of Folk Dancing, the Greek theater of the University of California, the Pasadena Community Playhouse, the Chicago Art Institute, and the department of religious education of Northwestern university contribute their services to the league's summer institute, without pay.

Last summer's institute drew students from eighteen states of the union. This year's program is more comprehensive and elaborate, and will command the services of authorities in every branch of theatrical art, the total teaching staff numbering twenty. The whole trend of the movement which the league is thus fostering is to take the drama, as a medium of national expression, back to the people—where it began.

Wounded Soldier Seeks Tribune Honor

Las Cruces, N. M., Aug. 1.—Luis Lucero, a native son of the Mesilla valley in southern New Mexico, will compete for one of the ten free scholarships offered by the Chicago Art Institute in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S contest for the most suitable designs to be used in the embellishment of the new room in its new plant.

At community home here, where he is exhibiting an interesting collection of his drawings and paintings, which received honorable mention at the Art Institute, Mr. Lucero said:

"This TRIBUNE'S plan opens a path for ambitious painters to bring their work before the public in a big way. I am going into the contest determined to win one of the scholarships. Lucero is an ex-serviceman. He was gassed in France and has been receiving vocational training at the Art Institute for the last year through the efforts of Mrs. Laura J. Frenger, secretary here for the western division of the Red Cross. Officers of the institute say he has exceptional talent."

Traveling Exhibits of Field Museum Aid Ex-Soldiers' Study

SENDING its traveling exhibits of animals, birds, fish, insects, flowers, and industrial products to the continuation school, where this summer 350 disabled ex-service men are removing their handicap through vocational training, Field museum is advancing another step toward the goal of modern museums—to reach all the people every day of the year.

Dr. S. Chapman Simms, director of the N. W. Harris public school extension of Field museum, explained that this newest extension of his department's service has developed as the result of a request from Edward G. Bauman of the Washburne Continuation and Trades schools at 14th street and Union avenue. He knew just what the visualizing of the textbook means to young students, with their ever present hunger for the concrete in education. He wanted the same benefits for the ex-servicemen.

The cases Mr. Bauman has desired particularly," said Dr. Simms, "were such as illustrated the economic side of natural science—for example, exhibits telling the story of tea and coffee from plantation to table; cotton and wool from fiber to fabric; the making of silver plated spoons, steel pens, and china plates; the manufacture of rubber, flour, white lead, and paper."

"In our regular service to the grade schools," remarked Dr. Simms, "we have noted a steadily increasing demand for economic material. I have asked the teachers to analyze it. 'O, it's in the air,' they will tell you. 'It's Chicago. We're a commercial city. Our pupils see these products advertised everywhere, they watch the smoking chimneys, and they're naturally curious to find out how the wheels go around inside all these busy factories.' I am particularly interested to know that the Society for Visual Education is producing a series of films on vocational education which will be suitable for school use. They should meet what is today a very vital need, and perform an important service to education."

Chicago Band Will Give Four Concerts

The Chicago band is busy dispensing free music. Tomorrow night the usual Wednesday concert will be given in Grant park, opposite Congress street. Thursday evening the bandmen will appear in Glencoe park on the north shore, and Friday they will play in Raymond park, Evanston. On Saturday the band of Director William Wall is scheduled to wave on the Municipal pier, where the crowning of the Pageant Progress queen will take place.

Poor He Aided Say Farewell to 'Bobby' Burke

ROBERT EMMET BURKE—"Bobby" Burke, erstwhile Democratic political boss, who once made and unmade mayors of Chicago—was buried yesterday in Calvary cemetery.

The funeral services were simple. There were scores of poor persons whom Burke had helped during his lifetime among the throng that gathered outside his North La Salle street home, but comparatively few of the old job hunters who used to follow in his train when he still held the political palm.

BIG ISSUES SELL QUICKLY; SHOW GAIN IN DEMAND

BY O. A. MATHER.
The easing of money rates and the consequent improvement in the demand for high grade investment securities was illustrated yesterday by two new issues.

First, the United States treasury department announced that its latest public offering of a combined issue of $200,000,000 seven and a half months 4 1/2 per cent and one year 5 1/2 per cent certificates of indebtedness was oversubscribed by 200 per cent, the subscription books being closed a few hours after being opened.

Second, the Chicago banking syndicate which offered the new issue of 100,000 Swift & Co. ten year 6 per cent notes closed the books and announced the oversubscription would be between 80 and 100 per cent. The proceeds of the issue will be used to retire a similar amount of notes maturing on Aug. 15.

Waiting Market Indicated.
The striking fact in these two announcements is that the combined total of subscriptions runs to nearly $500,000,000, and this despite the fact that the 5 1/2 per cent interest offered on the treasury certificates and the 7 1/2 per cent yield offered on the Swift notes at the offering price of 97 1/2 marks a shading of 1/2 per cent below the government has paid up to 1 1/2 per cent and the Chicago packing concerns up to 2 per cent on similar issues. Apparently and in spite of the great total of new securities sold in recent months there still remain funds seeking high grade and high yield securities.

The offering of the Swift notes also brought out an interesting statement on the packing house industry by Louis F. Swift, president of the company.
"While last year has been trying time in our business, I feel that the industry is now in a satisfactory condition and have through confidence in the future," Mr. Swift said. "We are operating on a profitable basis and we now have an actual stable market for our products, including hides and wool. We have made a substantial reduction in our liabilities."

Michigan Industry Livening Up.
There were other indications of improvement in business conditions. Michigan industries reported the working force at the end of July was 1,000,000, an increase of 100,000 from the end of June. The Philadelphia chamber of commerce reported a slight improvement in industrial conditions in that city during July. The steel plants of the Youngstown, Pa., district yesterday began a week of operations, which is considerably better than for many weeks.

The union steel workers have agreed to accept the sliding wage scale in effect in 1918 and 1919, which means a reduction in the current base of about $1.14 a ton. Forty thousand workers of the C. P. Frick Coke company have accepted the wage scale to approximately the 1918 base. The union molders employed in Boston and the vicinity have accepted a second wage cut, bringing the scale to $6 a day, compared with the wartime wage of $12.

Two Merger Plans Announced.
Plans for two industrial consolidations were announced yesterday. A special meeting of Flak Rubber company stockholders was called for Aug. 9 to vote on a plan to merge with the Federal and Nitrile companies. The Flak company proposes to issue $10,000,000 twenty year mortgage bonds and to increase the authorized first preferred, second preferred, and common stock issues of the new stock to rest with the proxy committee. Holders of Federal preferred shares will receive Flak first preferred shares with a dividend adjustment and a similar change is offered for Flak second preferred. Holders of Federal common stock would receive Flak common shares for shares.

The Middle States Oil company and its subsidiary, the Imperial Oil corporation, have acquired the $5,000,000 capital stock of the United Oil Producers corporation, whose outstanding $4,000,000 first lien minimum 8 per cent bonds also are guaranteed by the Imperial company. Stockholders of the Middle States and Imperial companies are given the right to subscribe direct to United Oil Producers corporation bonds.

Starting in weak and mostly lower, yesterday's hog market closed strong, with the early decline practically all regained. Best light hogs sold early at $11.50 and later at $11.60, equaling Saturday's top. The day's average was $11.50, the late trade shipping orders helped the late trade. Receipts at 45,000 were a few thousand beyond expectations, with the quality measurably good. Shippers favored the underweights, which were comparatively scarce. Most of the packers were after cheaper kinds carrying considerable weight, this fact helping the trade in heavy and mixed packing.

More cattle sold at $5.50 and above than on any day in several months, with nearly a dozen loads of 750@1,035 lb yearlings as high as $10.00 and 1,372 lb steers at $9.80. Better grades sold strong to slightly higher, while the other kinds ruled weak to 25c lower, butcher stock and culling cows showing most decline. Calves averaged 50c lower.

Lambs: Gains; Sheep: Break.

Better grades of lambs gained 10@25c, with both natives and westerns as high as $10.25 and strictly fancy quotable higher. Sheep met with an indifferent call and closed weak to 25c lower, some 124@132 lb Montana wethers selling at $15.60@15.75, while fancy 107 lb ewes went at $5.50.

Seven western markets received 75,000 cattle, $1,000 hogs, and 53,000 sheep, against 55,000 cattle, $6,000 hogs, and 45,000 sheep the previous Monday and 73,000 cattle, 76,000 hogs, and 67,000 sheep a year ago.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 5,000 cattle, 30,000 hogs, and 12,000 sheep, against 10,450 cattle, 25,350 hogs, and 16,516 sheep the corresponding Tuesday a year ago.
